No stopping ice breakthroughs

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

A deputy with the Antioch Fire Dept. says there is nothing that legally can be done to prevent what happened on Channel Lake last Sunday.

Seven snowmobilers crashed through thin ice and lost thousands of dollars in equipment to the depths of Channel Lake during a day that kept rescue workers busy in the water.

No serious injuries were reported but two of the snowmobilers were taken to a hospital for treatment.

"There's really no way we can prevent it," said Dennis Volling, a Fire Dept. deputy. "The only thing we can do is warn the people through the newspapers and radio."

Volling said nobody is willing to put signs up on the ice because of legal problems that may result.

He said signs could be put up on one spot of bad ice, for example, but then a snowmobiler could go to another area of the lake and fall through some bad ice there.

The snowmobiler would be eligible to sue, saying, "Why didn't you mark the bad ice there?" Voling said.

The lakes are public and there's no preventing anyone from going on them, and it's too difficult to mark every area of bad ice on a changing lake everyday, he said.

So last Sunday's near-disaster of events could be repeated.

"We hope not," Voling said.

Wasz's Resort, at the south end of Channel Lake, sponsored snowmobile races last Sunday on solid ice.

Problems started when snowmobilers started riding to the north end of the lake, which was open water on Saturday night and had only a crust over it on Sunday.

Snowmobilers unfamiliar with the lake zipped up to the north end of the lake and before they could see the "black ice," they were through it and into the water, Voling said.

"It looked like there was ice there but when they got to it they went right (Continued on Page 5)

ACHS hires building consultant

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Community High School board has hired a consultant to help find a plan for expanding the present high school facility.

The Illinois School Consulting Service of Naperville was hired at the board's regular meeting Jan. 16.

The consultants will form a 50- to 60-member citizens advisory council to be split up to study enrollment trends, the district's financial status and educational program, current facilities and future needs.

After data is gathered, the subcommittees will prepare reports for review by the entire advisory council. Problems will be studied and solutions recommended.

Solutions to needs that a majority of the council can agree on will be presented to the board. It is hoped that the use of a citizens committee will make any accepted plan more amenable to the community.

Last fall, community voters defeated a referendum for the second time to build and equip a new high school facility. ACHS is beyond its holding capacity and enrollment continues to grow, school officials say.

'The idea of stormwater management is a good one, but the SMC's maximum potential won't be reached until they can do the data collecting.'

Look to teachers for cuts: residents

GRAYSLAKE—While Grayslake Dist. 46 board of education members and staffers look for ways to trim $1 million from the budget, a group of residents is asking the board to look at teachers' salaries as well. Former Grayslake Mayor Edwin Schroeder said talking to the teachers about their raises has not been discussed yet. The teachers received an 11 percent increase last year, 12 percent this year. The board has approved a resolution for $2,275,000 in tax anticipation warrants at 4.5 percent at Banc One of Chicago. The district is also seeking a $2 million working cash bond fund approval from voters in the March 17 election.

Village establishes cost-cutting policies

FOX LAKE — Fox Lake will institute several new policies aimed at cutting costs. The village's current cash crunch is the result of lagging sales-tax revenues this fiscal year. In addition, the state has been slow in distributing to municipalities the sales tax already collected. One of the major money-saving policies on tap in the village concerns vehicles. All village vehicles — except those driven by Police Chief Ron Nagel and Fire Chief Stu Hoehne — must remain on village property when not being used for village business.

Collision kills one, injures two others

WAUCONDA — Slippery road conditions contributed to the fatal head-on collision on Route 176. The wreck occurred Jan. 15 in Wauconda when a vehicle driven by Jose Rios-Sigura, 19, address unknown, slid into the oncoming path of a utility truck. The 1983 Renault was crushed, trapping Rios-Sigura and Marcos Tavares, 19, 208 Brown St., inside. Tavares and Rios-Sigura were rushed to Condell Medical Center, Libertyville where Tavares was pronounced dead. A third occupant of the car, Marcelo Tristan, 23, also of 208 Brown St. was also transported to Condell. The driver of the utility truck was not injured. The accident occurred about 8:40 a.m. in the 600 Block of E. Liberty St.

Memo sparks anger toward District 116

ROUND LAKE — An effort to inform staff of the district budget restraints backfired when a packet released by the board was charged as a breach of confidence by several members of the teachers union. The 25-page packet with cover letter signed by school board presidents Bob Hubka, contained minutes of a negotiation meeting last spring on budget cuts in the district. Between 320 to 350 copies were distributed to custodians, secretaries, administrators and teachers throughout the district.

YMCA School Age Center opens

WAUKEGAN — The YMCA opened a new licensed School-Age Child Care Center in Belvidere Mall, Waukegan, Jan. 20. Operation of the new School-Age Center for both Waukegan and North Chicago children is being provided by funding from the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. The funding of approximately $50,000 for the required renovation to meet the strict licensing standards of various state and local agencies was obtained from the YMCA Future Fund by vote of the YMCA Board of Directors.

Holdup suspects face $1 million bond

GURNEE — Gurnee Police Dept. officials are praising the cooperative nature of various law enforcement branches — from the village, to the Sheriff's Dept. to the FBI in capturing two men and an accomplice who allegedly robbed a Burger King Jan. 19. "It was a total team effort," Gurnee Police Chief John Ward said. Bond was set at $1 million each for Troy Jackson and Stanley Belton and Jerry More, all of Waukegan.

Dist. 24 approves issuing TAW notes

WADSWORTH — While looking at long-range building options, Millburn Dist. 24 Board of Education members took a measure to help in short-term cash flow. The board approved issuing $275,000 in tax anticipation warrants Monday.

Blood donor search for local resident

LAKE ZURICH — Local residents are banning together to raise money for former United Airlines flight attendant Mel Noguchi, a Lake Zurich resident, that suffers from aplastic anemia. Money is needed for a bone marrow donor search. Donations can be sent to the Mel Noguchi Fund at NBD Bank of Lake Zurich, 1 NBD Plaza, Lake Zurich 60047.

Has your heart checkup?

Now a thorough heart screening is just $39.

If you're like most people, you'll walk about 1,000 miles each year. Those miles can add up. That's why it's wise to take steps to protect your heart - especially if you're 39 or older, or have a family history of heart disease.

To help get you headed in the right direction, the Heart Center of Lake County located at Saint Therese Medical Center is offering a thorough heart screening for just $39. Designed to identify your cardiac risk factors, this screening includes:

- Heart Fitness Test
- HDL and LDL cholesterol
- Total Cholesterol/HDL ratio
- Total blood cholesterol
- Blood pressure
- Triglyceride level
- Cardiac risk factor analysis

It's important to know the condition of your heart. By having this screening, you're taking great strides towards finding out just how healthy your heart really is. To make an appointment or for more information, please call (708) 360-2772.

Dancing to fame

The McNulty Irish Dancers represented Lake County and took third place in the senior division last Saturday at the Illinois Association of Agricultural Fair's state talent contest in Springfield. Thirty counties were represented. Contestants were judged on material, talent, costumes, stage presence and choreography. The award is the first at the state level for the dance troupe which has competed throughout the United States. Pictured above are (left to right) Katie Olson of Lake Forest; Laura Andrezejewski of Island Lake; Kelly Horton of Mundelein; Julie Lynch of Libertyville and her sister, Jenny Lynch. The troupe's next major performance is at the Rosemont Embassy Suites at 6 p.m. on St. Patrick's Day.

Affordable homes coming in 5 years

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Sometime in the next five years a central Lake County community will get its first affordable home.

It most likely will be a three-bedroom, 1-1/2 bath, two-car garage home with 1,500 feet of living space. Cost will be $70,000 to $85,000.

Those occupying the model will be a small family with two or three children. The father will work at a blue-collar job. The mother will work part-time at a fast-food restaurant or for a cleaning service. Together they will earn between $26,100 and $28,700.

There are hundreds of families and one-parent households in Lake County at this income level. They are able-bodied people, disabled or handicapped, elderly, low and moderate income. They are the ones to whom affordable housing is targeted.

As more people and communities understand the need for good quality, economically-priced homes, the model unit will be followed in succeeding years by more such homes, apartments and dwelling units of all types.

As more communities understand the need, they are expected to open their doors to the construction of housing to meet the demand by the masses.

A newly-formed 24-member task force held its second meeting this week in Libertyville.

It will help pave the way for dwelling units that all families with incomes in the targeted mid-$20,000s can afford. These will be from Waukegan and Gurnee to Wauconda, Libertyville and Antioch and all communities in between.

Named the first municipal representative on this body is Vernon Hills Trustee Pam Newton. Four more municipal members will be named in succeeding months along with five County Board members.

Job of the task force is multi-faceted. Involved are identifying the need, education of the public and village officials, model ordinance for communities, aesthetics, types of construction materials, financing, impact fees and, in general, providing appropriate housing for all segments of the qualifying population.

Such housing does not always mean new construction or single family homes. In some communities it will be apartments. In others it will be rehabilitated homes.

In coming months the task force will develop a slide program "to show that affordable housing is not negative and means available housing," Newton said. This will be shown to communities to win their approval for adopting a model affordable housing ordinance.

"We want to encourage as many areas of the county as possible to become involved, open their doors and make housing available to everyone," Newton said.

Before this happens there will be available financing, locations selected, contractors picked out and a way designed to select qualifying applicants.

After five years the work of the commission will be evaluated. If agreed, it will be continued.

Members of the task force, in addition to Newton, are Realtors, developers, representatives of labor and major corporations in Lake County and housing authorities from county government.

Asphalt causes roads to give bumpy rides

Hainesville Rd. and Cedar Lake Rd. could get a new resurfacing this year. They were resurfaced last year.

But the Lake County Division of Transportation has determined the roads do not meet state standards.

Negotiations are underway with the contractor, Peter Baker and Sons of Roundout.

If the firm does not agree to correct the problems it could face fines in excess of $4,000 for each project.

The problem is ripples that cause a bumpy, washboard-like ride. This makes speed limits in excess of the posted 35 miles per hour unsteady and the vehicle difficult to maneuver. Cold weather made the problem more noticeable.

Tom Somodji, resident engineer for the Lake County Division of Transportation, was on the job when both roads were surfaced. He said materials and workmanship met all on-site test standards and criteria.

He was at a loss to explain why the problem occurred. Compounding the concern is that both involved resurfacing, not putting down a new layer.

The Hainesville Rd. resurfacing was from Washington St. north to Rollins Rd.

Cedar Lake Rd. was similarly resurfaced from Monaville Rd. north to Grand Ave.

Somodji said he expected the problem to be corrected sometime this year.

ALL-most ready for spring's post-prom activity

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

A loss of grant money nearly spelled the end of Antioch High School's post-prom alternative this year, but combined efforts from communities are pulling it through.

At the helm is the Antioch, Lindenhurst and Lake Villa Parent Networking group (ALL), which jumped into action last fall when it was learned that only a fraction of the $60,000 in grants allocated to ACHS for student assistance programs in 1990-1991 would be available the following year.

In greatest jeopardy for ALL was the post-prom activity, a safe, fun alternative for students to the all-night drinking parties of the past. ALL premiered its post-prom alternative on May 4, 1991.

Held at the Lake Geneva Health and Racquetball Club, ALL offered food, soft drinks, videos, use of the health club facilities and prize drawings from 1 to 5 a.m. Students were charged $1 each.

A total of 93 ACHS juniors and seniors attended. ALL knew they had something.

"For that being the first time, it was a very good turnout," said ALL member Ardeen Harris. "Now everyone has told their friends, so we expect double this year."

Then the rug was pulled out. Cathy Cratty, the high school's student assistance programs coordinator, received word that ACHS would get only $10,500 in grants from the state Board of Education in 1991-1992.

"So we started working," Harris said.

ALL members stood on street corners last October to sell anti-drug red ribbons during Red Ribbon Week and proceeds from sweat garments bearing the Sequoia emblem were given to the networking group.

The communities rallied behind. The villages of Antioch and Lake Villa, the Antioch Drug and Alcohol Task Force and the Antioch Lions Club each contributed $500. The Village of Lindenhurst agreed to pay for a motor coach bus to take the students to this year's post-prom activity at the Charlie Club in Palatine.

Residents and businesses also contributed, whether it was money, food or volunteer time. ALL has already compiled a donating sponsor list of 205 residents and merchants.

"The communities are very much behind us," said ALL member Ellen Ipsen. "They think we're doing a good thing."

Jewel Food Stores has sponsored two "Shop & Share" programs. Jewel donates 5 percent of a consumer's grocery bill to ALL, provided the shopper has the correct ALL coupon. A third "Shop & Share" is set for next month.

It's all coming together but the group is still about $2,000 short of its $8,000 goal. ALL mailed solicitation letters to the community and is hoping for a good response. ALL members feel it's for a worthy cause.

"As much as people think that all kids just want to go and party after prom, there are a lot of kids who don't. They don't feel comfortable," Cratty said.

"But they go because of peer pressure. There was never anything else to do. All there was was these hotel parties. Now the students are finding out there's something else to do that's fun. And parents are finding out, too."

Cratty's comments were confirmed by

ACHS juniors Stephanie Gorski and Colleen Keating, both of whom didn't attend last year's post-prom activity but heard about and want to be in on this year's.

"Some people don't enjoy drinking and this is something else to do," Keating said.

"Plus, there's activities there that you couldn't otherwise go to for $1," Gorski adds.

This year's post-prom activity is scheduled to follow the May 1 prom.

The Jewel "Shop & Share" program is slated for Feb. 10, 11 and 12. To obtain the coupons, call Arlene Gaffrig at 395-4407.

Anyone wishing to donate food, time or money to the post-prom activity should call Charlene Cox at 356-3820.

Questions should be asked of Ardeen Harris, ALL's publicist, at 395-2761.

ALL meets the first Tuesday of every month at 7 p.m. at ACHS. Anyone is invited.

Daddy-Daughter Date Night Feb. 15

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

Hey Dad, here's a chance to take your little girl(s) out and really spoil them.

The Antioch Parks & Recreation Dept. is sponsoring a Daddy-Daughter Date Night for the first time on Feb. 15. That's 24 hours after the other day to spoil that special loved one in your life.

Anyway, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Antioch Upper Grade School, fathers and daughters dressed in formal attire (but not tuxedos) will enjoy cookies and punch and music from a disc jockey playing Top 40 and music of the 1960s.

The idea comes from Parks & Rec Director Carol Todd, who said it was a real popular event with Champagne's park district, where Todd has worked.

She decided to bring it to Antioch.

"It's a night just for dads and their girls to have some special time together and to have a good time," Todd said.

"It's a chance for Dad to take his little girl out and really spoil her."

To sign up for Daddy-Daughter Date Night, come into the Parks & Rec office inside Village Hall.

Cost is $10 per couple. Each additional daughter is $3. The girls must be age 3 and older.

Antioch Parks & Rec urges all fathers to attend.

After all, it won't be too long before some other guy is dating and spoiling your little gal.

Even before firefighters left the scene, two more snowmobilers crashed through the ice and had to be rescued. Then another one went through.

None of those three men required hospital care, the Fire Dept. reported.

Wasz's Resort reportedly warned snowmobilers of the dangerous north end of the lake by blaring a warning over loudspeakers.

"There's bad spots no matter where you go. The guys who ride the lakes regularly know that and know where they are," Volling said.

Channel Lake man rescues snowmobiler from icy fate

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

Dan Hucker and his dad, George, were working on their ice shanty late Sunday morning, to the good fortune of two Berkeley residents.

"We heard this 'Help' from way out on the lake," Hucker, 29, recalled.

Using binoculars, the two saw bodies bobbing in the waters of Channel Lake.

"I said, 'Dad, we got people in the water,'" Hucker said.

Thus began the rescue effort of Alex Russell, 33, and his 58-year-old father, the second pair of snowmobilers to fall through the ice on Channel Lake during a day that saw seven go crashing into the water.

Hucker said he and his father saw the first two rescued by the Antioch Fire Protection District. But when the second two went through, the Channel Lake resident said he knew he could get to them faster.

Firing up his six-wheel all-terrain vehicle and grabbing a canoe, an ice bar and some rope, Hucker and his father set out across the ice.

"I knew where the bad ice was and the good ice was," he said. "In no time were we in any danger. I was born on the lake. I am not naive and neither is my father."

So he was not surprised when the six-wheeler broke through some ice and began to float. Hucker leaped into the canoe and paddled for the snowmobiler he thought was in the most danger.

The man turned out to be Russell, and too heavy to pull into the canoe. Hucker said he tied Russell to the canoe and waited for Antioch Fire rescuers.

"I took his helmet off for him. I took his goggles off. I did what he asked and I just talked to him," he said.

Hucker said he suffered frostbite to a finger in the rescue, but the carpenter for Modern Home Builder in Lake Villa said he'd ride out there and do it again.

He added that he just may have to. "What we get are these guys from Chicago who don't know bad ice and whip around at 80 mph," Hucker said. "At 40 mph they see the bad ice and by that time it's too late. They don't know what bad ice looks like."

Ice

through it," he said.

Rescuers received their first call at 9:30 a.m. Both snowmobilers managed to crawl out of the lake by the time the Fire Dept. arrived.

The second call was received about 90 minutes later, when a father-and-son team went down. A Channel Lake man was able to get out to the snowmobilers before rescuers and keep one of them afloat with a canoe until help arrived.

Those snowmobilers were taken to a McHenry hospital for treatment. They were later released.

Board goes to first police addition

The Antioch Village Board has opted to build an addition on the existing police department building to house the new 911-enhanced emergency telephone equipment.

The Board requested that other options be researched by the Village staff before the addition — estimated at costing $100,000 — was approved.

In the end, it was found that building on, rather than renovating, was cheaper. "It costs more to create within," said Trustee Larry Hansen, who serves as the Board's public safety committee chairman.

Rescue Squad elects officers

The Antioch Rescue Squad, at its Jan. 8 meeting, elected officers for the 1992-93 term. Elected were Jerry Popp, chief; Tim Osmond, first lieutenant; Dave Horton, second lieutenant; Tom Dvorak, president; Dave Edwards, secretary and John Wolfram, treasurer. These gentlemen will serve for the next two years.

The Antioch Rescue Squad is a not-for-profit volunteer unit that is now a tax-supported entity providing emergency first aid on a 24-hour basis for Antioch Twp.

Millburn session to help future kindergarteners

Millburn Dist. 24 is offering district parents of three, four and five-year old preschoolers a "Kindergarten Preparation Workshop" on Tuesday, Jan. 28 at 7 p.m.

Through the efforts of staff personnel, parents of future kindergartners will have the opportunity to learn how to help prepare their children for classroom experiences. Developmental areas discussed will be speech and language; small and large motor skills; academic skills; conceptual experiences and social and emotional adjustments to the classroom environment.

Parents of 1992-93 kindergarten children who attend this program will also have the opportunity to schedule a specific time for their child's screening which will be March 18, March 19 and March 20. Those parents who are unable to attend the program and would like to schedule a screening time and date should call the school at (708) 356-8331 after Jan. 28.

Parents should bring an original certificate of their child's birth, a hospital certificate is not valid verification of a child's birth. Kindergarten students must be five-years old on or before Sept. 1 to be eligible for the 1992-93 school year.

Centennial Man applications due Feb. 10

Rescue Squad reviews '91

The Antioch Rescue Squad, in its 51st year, had a busy 1991. Not only was care given to over 1,100 patients this year, it conducted several CPR classes and gave presentations to civic organizations, such as the Rotary Club and Women's Club. The 1991 auction, which is the major fund-raising activity of the year, was a huge success, thanks to the support of the Antioch community.

Several items should be highlighted from 1991. The Antioch Lions Club donated a new GMC Chassis for the newest mobile intensive care rescue vehicle. Two members, Mike Clark and Dave Edwards, successfully completed their paramedic program and have received the designation. And members Dave Wright, Ralph Antonelli, Scott Panzer and John Frank successfully completed their EMTA program.

A special event of significant importance was held last spring in conjunction with "Lifeguard," an Antioch Community High School group. The Antioch Rescue Squad, along with others, simulated an auto accident involving drunk drivers.

Six members are enrolled in the paramedic program at Victory Memorial Hospital and expect to finish in the summer of 1992. Since Antioch will be sponsoring many centennial events in 1992, the Rescue Squad expects to be a major participant in providing the services in the event of any medical emergencies.

Groups that wish to receive CPR training should contact the Rescue Squad, and any organization that wishes to learn more about the Antioch Rescue Squad and what it's done can contact the squad for a presentation.

The Rescue Squad functions solely on the basis of donations and fund-raising

Reading time

The Antioch Public Library Dist. will have a preschool reading program starting Feb. 1. There will be a variety of activities planned for children ages three to nine. Registration begins Jan. 25.

Kids keep The Lizard in line and in giggles

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380
Mom, I Remember

I have another special little Steven Werchek story to share with you. Steven is one of the four-year-olds in the afternoon session of the Camp Crayon program.

Steven's mom and dad believe in taking the children to church at an early age, yet prefer they are at least old enough to partially understand the concept of attending church.

Recently, Steven's parents decided it was time to begin this process. Before leaving for their church visit, good old Mom took a few moments to explain a few things concerning their excursion to the house of God. Steven quickly told her that he knew all about church and went on to explain, "It is where you go to have the man put dirt on your forehead in front of a lot of people, and then you get to wash your face before leaving."

Suddenly Mrs. Werchek realized she did take Steven to church with her on Ash Wednesday. However, it took her several minutes to decipher what he meant by washing his face before he left. Finally she recalled how she had instructed him to dip his finger into the holy water and make the sign of the cross. At the time, he was only three years old and in his mind, he thought the water and sign was a special way to wash the dirt (ashes) off of his head.

Once again little Steven's innocent perception of things provided The Lizard with another cute story "out of the mouths of babes!"

Where is it?

Sometimes the children at Camp Crayon will bring a favorite item from home to camp. During playtime they can play with the special toy or whatever. However, as we assemble in our Pledge of Allegiance/talking/singing/game circle, they must then place these special keepsakes on the "go home table."

As I walked around our flag circle, I noticed little Meaghan Carberry had on her back pack so I requested, "Meaghan, would you please put your back pack on the 'go home table'?" She readily complied with my request by leaving the circle to do what I had asked.

I continued on with my work in the flag circle not noticing what Meaghan was doing. After awhile, I heard Miss JoAnne ask little Meaghan what she was looking for and heard Meaghan respond, "I am looking for my back pack!" Naturally Miss JoAnne had to chuckle as she replied, "It is on your back, Meaghan."

Also Flag Circle

Each day at Camp Crayon we pick two little people to stand in the middle of our flag circle to hold our two small American flags. Then we all recite the Pledge of Allegiance. This particular day I handed over one flag and positioned the first child and then handed over the second flag, also positioning the second flag child.

The children began to mumble, grumble and point. However, I was in my own world as I headed back to my position to begin our recitation. The children continued making too much noise and I was just about to remind them that we must all quiet down to recite the pledge when I finally realized they were all concerned because the "stars and stripes" fell off one of the sticks.

I said, "oops," (very profound) and told them I would repair it in a jiffy. I picked it off of the floor and went to the other room to staple it onto the stick. After doing so, I returned and handed it to the flag person.

Once again I walked to my position in the circle. Once again the children mumbled and grumbled. Exasperated, I thought, "What now?" The 'what' turned out to be that in my haste, I had stapled the American flag on upside down. Can you believe it? If you knew me, you would.

After incidents such as this, I begin to believe the little ones are there to keep us in line—definitely not the other way around.

Emmons School

At the December meeting of the Emmons School Board, a number of topics were discussed or and action taken. A public hearing was held on the tax levy and a resolution was adopted for the 1991 tax levy.

The township assessor, state senator, and state representatives were invited to this meeting. Tax assessor Cliff Houghton and his assistant attended. Senator

The staff upheld their honor by defeating the A-team the day before Christmas in the student/faculty playoff. Girl's basketball tryouts are underway and Coach Murphy will give the junior high girls the information they need.

Raccoons

Remember when I told you how those orphaned raccoons came out of the woods to welcome us to our Northwoods home after a three-week absence and then again after a five-week absence? At that time I told you I would keep you posted of any future raccoon sightings.

This time our winter visit to our Eagle River home was not highlighted by another welcome back visit from my raccoon friends. However, there was about 12 inches of snow on the ground and tons of food left in their shelter. Raccoons do hibernate on and off throughout the winter, so I am assuming that is exactly what the babies were doing.

Our next visit will be taken during break, so you will have to wait until then for the next chapter on the whereabouts of the babies. Keep reading.

Forgetful

I apologize to the two following people who called and left messages for me to return their calls—the lady who left a message on my answering machine reminding me that I did not return her call and the man who called about the soccer equipment. I put both of your numbers on a piece of paper intending to return your calls and guess who lost the piece of paper? Forgive my disorganization and call again. I will be glad to put your news item in "Hometown Goodies" and I promise to do a better follow-up next time. Sorry!

Special Birthdays

Hubby (Rudy Brausam) and his better half (Vivian Brausam), celebrated their 70th birthdays. Rudy's special day was Dec. 13 and Vivian's was Jan. 15. Naturally, their family was on hand to help them celebrate and enjoy Grandma's delicious cooking. Their son, Ray, was there with his family (Marie, Jennifer and Kelley), as was their son, Don, with his family (Linda, Shelley and Jamie). Their daughter, Mary Ann, son-in-law, Dennis, and grandson, Lane, were also in attendance, as was Jason Nolan, a friend of the family.

After taking on a few extra pounds, due to Vivian's tempting menu, Rudy manned the clean-up duties and then everyone gathered 'round to watch and enjoy old family movies and relive some special family moments.

When it was time for everyone to leave, Vivian sent her loved ones on their respective ways with a sampling of one of her delicious, 'world famous,' homemade lemon cream pies. Sounds good to me! Happy belated 70th, Rudy and Vivian, from Lizard and readers.

Letter to the Editor

Backs term paper

Editor:
Our world would really be in a sad state if everyone thought the way Anita Scharf does.

It's a shame that she doesn't realize that her daughter's education is one of the most important things in life. How does she expect her to advance her education without completing the assigned projects? High school and college will certainly be more difficult if she enters not having the basics under her belt.

Everyone I have known has gone through research assignments. Term papers are part of the learning process. Besides learning to use a library, learning to cross reference, learning to put someone else's and their own ideas down on paper, the students just might learn something more than is written in textbooks.

Shame on Anita Scharf for not having the inclination to help her daughter on this project. As for time, I'm sure one of her friends' parents might be able to find the time to give her a ride to the library when they take their children to do their research papers.

At least these parents care which direction their children's education goes. Right to the top of the class!

Antioch AARP meeting update

Antioch Area Chapt. 387 of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) held its first meeting of the new year on Jan. 14, at the Antioch Senior Center.

The flu bug evidently hit many members because only about 80 members were present when President Marge LaParr called the meeting to order. Art and Lori Aerne served as flag bearers and Genevieve Horsch provided the music for the opening songs. Emily Notovny, the regular pianist, was ill.

Grace Ullrich, program chairperson, planned a program about long-term care (LTC). Peggy Pannke, National Consumer Oriented Agency (NCOA), informed members there are 134 long-term insurances available, but only a few will cover a long stay in a nursing home or custodial care at home. Pannke urged everyone to read a policy very carefully before signing it. The NCOA helps people select the right policy for their needs and there is no charge for their services.

Robert Allgire, popular director of the AARP All

Stars Band, is recovering from several by-pass operations at St. Luke's Hospital. The All Stars have cancelled all practices until March. The Strings ensemble will perform at Libertyville on Feb. 19 with Bud Derkum conducting.

The next meeting, a social meeting, will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 28. Lunch will be served by the Senior Center under the direction of Paul Howard. Cards and bingo will be played after the luncheon.

For more information about the AARP Chapter, call (708)395-5363.

Centennial Ball tickets on sale

The Antioch Woman's Club presents the first event of the Antioch Centennial Year, the Centennial.

This gala dinner dance will be held at Maravella's in Fox Lake on Saturday, Feb. 29 beginning with cocktails at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. The 10-piece Night Shift Orchestra with a big-band sound will provide the music, and there will be a special program to honor Antioch Centennial Hall of Fame Members.

The proceeds from the dance will go to support the Antioch Woman's Club community improvement program. Tickets are available at the First National Bank of Antioch, State Bank of Antioch, and Antioch Village Hall.

The price is $40 per ticket; $80 per couple.

For more information call Mable Lou Weber at (708)395-4210.

Office accepting food donations year-round

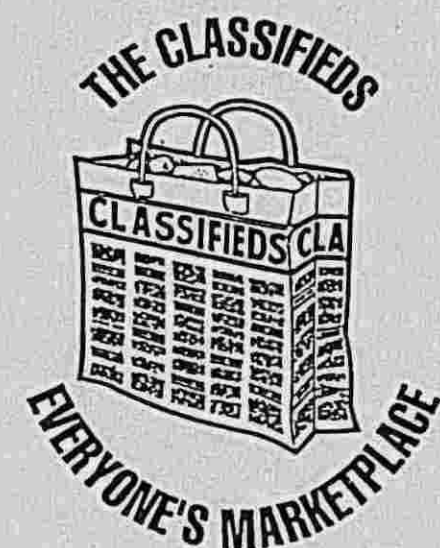

Wayne Sobczak of Realty World Tiffany expresses his thanks to all who made the holidays a little better for those in need. Many people dropped off donations of clothing and non-perishable foods at both of his Antioch and Round Lake offices for those in need.

The contributions were delivered to the food pantry and P.A.D.S. for distribution. A few of the many who donated were: Karen Bartz, Shirley Jensen, Gail Robinson, David and Rosemary Wicki, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Windahl.

Since there are people in need of food all year long, Sobczak has offered his offices as a drop-off site throughout the year.

Any non-perishable food can be dropped off at either 549 Lake St., Antioch, or 629 Rollins Rd., Round Lake. For more information, Call Pat Wagner at (708)395-1010.

COLLEGE OF LAKE COUNTY

Lakeland's COUNTY NEWS

$7,000 Geary case continues in court

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Avon Twp. will continue its legal quest to recover $12,700 from former Supv. Norman Geary. The board voted earlier this week to have Gurnee Atty. Rudy Magna file the appropriate legal documents in McHenry County Circuit Court where the case is now pending.

"We want our money back and we want to prove a point," Avon Twp. Supv. Russell Christian said. He expects a decision in 60 days.

In December the Illinois Appeals Court in Elgin returned the case to McHenry County for clarification. Two lower court decisions favored the township. Geary appealed those rulings.

The Appeals Court asks for documentation Geary intentionally paid himself salaries as both township supervisor and township trustee.

To answer the Appeals Court, Avon Twp. Supv. Russell Christian said minutes of township meetings between 1977 and 1989 will be filed. Those show the amount of money approved and paid each month.

Avon's lawsuit claims Geary was illegally paid a second salary as township trustee. Christian said it has an opinion to this effect from its own attorney and George Miller, executive director of the Township Officials of Illinois Assn.

Both salaries were paid for Geary's entire 27-1/2 years as supervisor. Reimbursement is only being sought for 11 years from 1977 to 1989 when Geary was defeated for re-election due to the statute of limitations.

Geary said the two salaries had been paid in Avon Twp. for at least 50 years, including to his predecessor, Maurice "Pink" Murrie. In other townships, such as Warren where Robert Depke is supervisor, he is also paid as township treasurer.

Geary said his salary as supervisor and township trustee was established every four years in advance of elections. "That pay did not change during those four years," he continued.

The trustee salary, which is under $1,000 annually, was established every four years by the supervisor as board chairman and four trustees.

One of the trustees during 20 of the years Geary received the two salaries was Rodney "Jim" Rockenbach, Grayslake fire chief. "He approved the salaries every four years and each month when vouchers were paid," Geary said.

"Yet, he is the one who helped begin this legal action 1-1/2 years ago. That was because he met Depke (a Geary adversary) at a statewide township officials meeting and was prompted into doing something."

Geary blames Depke with engineering his 1989 defeat, partially because of the bad publicity surrounding the dual salaries.

Geary was asked at the time to both stop receiving the two paychecks and/or return prior money received. He refused, saying that he should be paid a salary for attending monthly township board meetings.

Geary received several other salaries from the years 1988 to 1990 when he was County Board chairman. He was also paid as a County Board member, County Board chairman, county liquor commissioner and member of the Forest Preserve district board.

The case is being heard in McHenry County because of Geary's position as chairman of the Lake County board when legal proceedings began.

Magna has already received $7,000 from the township for the Geary case. Christian said he will get no more money because the original agreement was for a percentage of money recovered or a maximum. "That max has now been reached," he said. "Any legal work from here on will not cost us anything."

Geary is paying his own legal fees.

Burning refuse issue

Today's throw-away economy is literally burying us in refuse. Just look at the mountain of trash rising near Grayslake.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to hide this problem in Lake County. NIMBY's (Not in My Back Yard) reject the idea of more ski-hill type landfills.

Environmentalists like CLEAR (Citizens of Lake County for Environmental Action Reform) and CLEAN (Citizens Lobbying for the Environment and Neighborhood) stress recycling.

Trying to sort all of this out is the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO). Members of participating municipalities spent two years identifying the solid waste problem, devised a plan of attack and are now ready to put it to action.

Toward this goal a list of 20 prospective directors has been narrowed to six. The eventual choice is expected to be on board this spring.

Then comes more questions. Should the solution be recycling, incineration or more landfills? More than likely, it will be a combination with an emphasis on one.

Some see this as more landfills. But where? Even if there will be less refuse in the years ahead, whose back yard? It is increasingly difficult to open compost sites in Lake County. Attempts to expand existing landfills have met a chorus of public opposition.

They counter with an emphasis on recycling and reuse. With so much newsprint, aluminum cans, glass and plastic being recycled across the land, markets have vanished. Municipalities and waste haulers bear the cost. While recycling may be popular, it is not profitable.

Incineration is the likely alternative. The ski hills of today's trash can be reduced to a grave of decaying ashes. With growing technology, efficiency is 99 percent. By-products such as metals, glass and aluminum can be reused again.

Yes, incineration has its critics. Air pollution is seen as No. 1. Safety is a close second. Cost is another consideration.

Many of Lake County's decision makers such as County Board Chairman Robert Depke favor incineration. So do some of those on the SWALCO board. They are being lobbied to hire a new director with an incineration background.

That sounds like a good idea. Here in Lake County we've tried landfills. Everyone knows their pros and cons.

Recycling has generated modest interest. This do-it-if-you-like option is working. But more can be done.

Incineration is a growing technology. It is used successfully in Germany and at various places in the United States. Even the United States government is building a giant incinerator in Utah to dispose of the weapons of war.

Incineration is worth exploring here in Lake County. It is an idea whose time has come.

Longs for good life

Editor:

Good life for citizens means no overcrowding in schools, no higher taxes, no higher burdens for police, fire, sewer, water and highway departments.

We retired citizens like to keep our homes where we brought up our children, but we won't be able to with the higher taxes that high density building programs will bring.

Overcrowding means higher taxes. Ask Grayslake, Round Lake, Libertyville, Lake Zurich and Crystal Lake.

Where fault lies

Editor:

The Illinois State legislature can look to the recent financial history of our federal government in dealing with the present Illinois fiscal mess.

The primary lessons we should have learned from the mistakes of our federal government are: (1) don't increase taxes, and (2) don't borrow, except in the short-term, and keep the borrowed dollars to a minimum.

That leaves one hard choice: cut spending now.

As a former President once said, government can't solve the problem, government is the problem. Since the Democrat controlled legislature is unwilling to give Gov. Edgar the latitude to make spending cuts, we can only hope that the legislature will have the courage to make these necessary cuts.

Hope, and if they fail, vote them out of office.

Self-inflicted wounds

Editor:

There is no doubt that these are troubled times. The President just returned from a trip along the Pacific Rim looking for help in kick-starting the American economy and improving our balance of trade.

One prime candidate for improvement would be the auto industry. There seems to be something patently wrong with an industry that rewards its leaders with obscene bonuses and stratospheric salaries while losing several hundreds of millions of dollars.

To a large extent the auto industry's wounds are self-inflicted. The decline, of course, did not come overnight. For years the automakers insisted on exercising their inalienable right to manufacture automobiles that the American people did not find as desirable as a Honda or a Toyota.

If the auto industry and Mr. Iacocca want to continue to get the same poor results they have gotten the last decade, they are well on their way. Just continue with the same slothful leadership and keep complaining about a restrictive foreign market while losing domestic market share. The fact is Japan is second only to Canada when it comes to purchasing American goods.

The bottom line is, if we don't buy American, why should they?

Feisty writer sparks dialog with students

by BILL SCHROEDER

Lauren Januz is a man high school students love to hate.

Januz, a big bear of a man who has big ideas about a number of things, happens to think that too many teenagers are over-sexed, over-abusing controlled substances, over-indulged and under-educated.

Never shy about speaking his mind, Januz kicked off a pre-holiday fire storm writing a letter to the editor of the Libertyville News, one of the Lakeland papers, outlining his thoughts on how the younger generation is going to hell in a handbasket. Januz isn't alone in thinking this, for sure. Where he differs is that he put his thoughts in writing and his thoughts got into print.

Response was as expected. Students at Libertyville High School responded by writing their own letters to the editor, usually signed by a couple of dozen young men and women. Januz resides in the Libertyville district although his home actually is in Mettawa with a Lake Forest address.

Who is this jerk? kids wanted to know. They took Januz to task for his viewpoints on youth and the sorry state of secondary education in America.

"I received a lot of criticism, but I also got some constructive comment," related Januz, who is a self-employed marketing consultant who writes a respected industry news letter on producing sales letters that get results. Boy, does he know how to get results!

"I got a lot of harassing calls," admitted Januz, who dabbled in Republican politics two decades ago and once sought public office.

Keynote political reform with 'citizen statesmen'

by ROBERT J. BYRNE

In the last election cycle (1989-90) for U.S. Congress, New York State had 34 winning Congressmen raising a total of $14,257,367 with $6.8 million from out of state.

New York represents a typical example. Who does your Congressman represent? For that matter who does any of our elected officials represent? A majority of Americans now feel they are not represented and they are right.

The population of America grows and voter turnout declines. The public's perception of politicians is at an all-time low. Apathy has turned to despair.

Empathic resolution of the problems facing America seems impossible. Graduate schools and public administration use a phrase regarding government resolution of our problems—"muddle through." Why are the politicians muddling through the quagmire of America's problems, reaching no real solutions?

The answer is relatively simple. Most of America's politicians are working to keep their job, and not working to do their job.

Indeed, it has become quite obvious. Before we can get to educational reform, welfare reform, tort reform, resolution of the medical crisis, solving the problems of drug abuse, crime and violence, solving major environmental and ecological concerns, improve the economy, etc., we must first have political reform.

And that reform must be geared to return America to representation by "citizen statesmen" and end the era of "professional politicians." It should be noted that pro-

"One day I got 23 calls, mostly profanity and heavy breathing."

Out the melee of telephone conversations with Libertyville High students, Januz said he obtained "a better picture" of youth today and the LHS student body. "I found many of the kids highly intelligent." He also learned, he said, something about teenage drinking habits. Januz said the students told him that 70 percent drink alcohol daily or weekly, with most of the drinking coming at weekend beer parties.

Januz says he's convinced that there's a major crisis in our schools, both with substance abuse and the kind of educational programs being offered. One of Januz' pet theories is that schools today offer "too much fluff." Januz figures that taxes should go for basics. It's wrong that citizens are having their backs broken with oppressive school taxes. If students want "fluff" stuff, let them pay for it out of their own pockets. "We have to rethink taxation for public education."

Januz admitted that he has only visited Libertyville High once, to attend a concert where the school orchestra performed. "It was quality. I was impressed." He said he is considering an invitation from some of the students to visit their school for a talk.

The outspoken youth and education critic isn't an off-the-wall pop-off. Januz speaks from experience as a volunteer in substance abuse programs. "I know what it is to see kids in recovery."

It will be interesting to see what happens next. For one thing, Januz isn't sorry he wrote the letter. Only good can come of this dialog.

Professional politicians are not solely responsible for all the problems that we face. All those pushing the secular humanist agenda, along with those who do nothing, can certainly share the blame.

People in public office must return to being leaders and not followers, and the following summary of concepts for political reform is designed to do just that. Please note that all the following reforms relate to every public office, at every level, with the single exception of certain necessary deferences for the Office of President of the United States.

Three steps must first be taken to deal with the election cycle itself. Candidate filings for the 1992 election in Illinois began in December 1991, and the primary election is in March. This puts all candidates campaigning literally for over a year for all the offices to be decided in the 1992 November election. To correct this kind of situation:

1. All primaries would be seven weeks prior to the General Election.

2. All filings of candidate petitions to run for public office would be made 10 weeks prior to the primary election date, and within three weeks of that date the appropriate election boards would certify the slate of candidates that can validly run in the primary election in their respective areas.

3. Contributions for any campaign can only be accepted 60 days prior to the date (Continued on next page)

If deer could vote, Davida might win

DEER LADY

Davida Terry's pink invitation to her Dick Biondi '50s and '60s dance party on Saturday, Feb. 1, features a forest glen scene. Shown lining up in front of a polling place are a fawn, squirrels, fox, rabbit and owl. Terry, who is running for the County Board in the 18th Dist., did the illustration herself. She is a graphic artist, owner of her own advertising/pr agency and one-time associate producer at WGN-TV, among what she calls other "qualifications."

Terry is affectionately known as the Deer Lady for her campaign of last year to save the deer in Ryerson Woods. Her answering machine says it is also the phone for the Ryerson Deer Foundation. "We got more than $1,000 in donations for that cause last year," she confided.

As for her fund-raiser featuring the Chicago radio legend, it will be at the Mundelein Holiday Inn, Rtes. 60/83/45, from 9 p.m. to midnight.

The invitation recalls when "Life was simpler, we would cruise in our Chevy down a country road, the ozone layer didn't have a hole in it. Poodle skirts were the craze and a little dab 'il do ya helped style those D.A.'s. And you couldn't tell a dirty joke on the radio. Nobody complained about deer in the back yard, either."

As for Terry, she's running because "...the only recourse we have is by electing those individuals to public office who have compassion both for people and our fellow animal creatures, who care about the environment and who will represent us, their constituents, not just the needs of special interest groups. Those who want the job because of their commitment, not because politics is their career."

Now, if deer could only vote.

FOOTBALL HERO?

Paul Chervin must hate football. He's the Waukegan attorney running against state Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis in the new 31st Dist. of northern Lake County.

For Super Bowl Sunday on Jan. 26 he has a $25 per-head reception from 4 to 9 p.m. It will beat the Midlane Farm Country Club in Waukegan.

"We would like to have a large crowd," an accompanying letter said.

How many people are going to spend good money to watch the biggest football game of the year with someone named Paul Chervin?

CRANE FAKES IT

For this year's election Congressman Phil Crane (R-Mount Prospect) sent everyone in his 12th Dist. a survey. It asks questions the upcoming 102nd Congress will tackle along with some that are history.

Even Crane's opponent in the March primary, Gary Skoien, got a mailing. At home, his parent's home and his campaign headquarters. Skoien estimates the cost for you and I to mail this survey first class to the 300,000 households in the district would cost $87,000. Crane paid nothing. He has franking privileges. Skoien also noted the mailing was printed at taxpayer expense. For that add another $20,000.

As for the content, Skoien calls it "propaganda. It has no function other than to get votes for Crane."

Asked are questions Congress has already dealt with, Skoien says. Such as President Bush's Transportation bill (Crane voted no), renegotiation of the Panama Canal treaty (Crane doesn't like current treaty).

To Crane's credit, the survey asks about increasing tax exemptions, cutting capital gains taxes, a national vet's cemetery at Ft. Sheridan, national health care plan, etc.

Since Crane was elected in 1969 he has criticized government waste and abuse, Skoien noted. "This is a typical campaign tactic," he added, "a fake survey."

ANDY'S BOO-BOOS

State rep candidate Andrea Moore of Libertyville has a campaign that almost can't win for losing. She wants to be our new legislator in Springfield for the 61st Dist.

To help finance the election trip, she held a fund raiser last Sunday. All the publicity leading up to the event said it was to be at the Adler Cultural Center where "Andy" served on the board until last June. She bought the location in an Adler auction last year.

But she forgot to read the bylaws. No politics. Opponents and their friends in the Adler circle were making some noise.

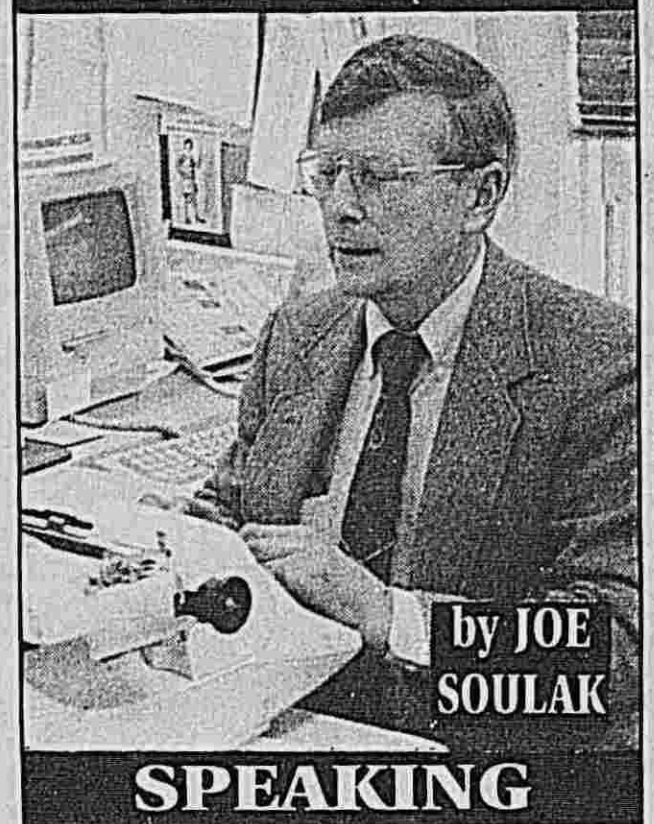

So two days before the Sunday fund raiser Andy's staff sent out a press release relocating the event to the nearby Tavern in the Town.

"My intent was never meant to indicate an Adler endorsement of my candidacy," Moore said. "The committee moved it to avoid a threatened controversy."

That's boo-boo No. 2 for this candidate.

Moore was bumped from the County Board section of the March ballot when she filed faulty petitions. She took that one philosophically, saying: "It will give me more time to run for state rep."

Her competition in this race is Ralph Swank Jr., Libertyville Twp. supervisor. He's not worried about the Moore campaign. Since last Sunday he and his two daughters have been vacationing in Mexico. Before taking off Swank hosted a pizza and beer party for township committeemen.

Oh yes, word has it that Swank's brother-in-law is on the Adler board.

MATH PROBLEM

After 1-1/2 years of trying, Avon Twp. will continue a lawsuit to recover $12,700 from former Supv. Norman Geary. The lawsuit said he illegally received money as a trustee while also serving as township supervisor for 11 years prior to leaving office in 1989.

Geary says it's harassment intended to embarrass him further. He claims the pay was legal.

Gurnee Atty. Rudy Magna has so far been paid $7,000 to fight the case through Circuit Court to the state Appeals Court. Do what it takes to get the money, the township board decided last week.

Geary said the $7,000 paid Magna is more than was spent in legal fees during his 27 years as supervisor.

One of Geary's friends, Raymond Lacroix, said the board's math isn't very logical. "It's a case of the taxpayers suing themselves. The new board is just using our money to fight the old board," he said.

OVERHEARD/SEEN

* GURNEE—Raymond Lacroix, candidate for the County Board in the new 11th Dist. of Grayslake and Wildwood, has been put on a non-paid leave of absence from his job with the Public Works Dept. It could wind up being a permanent layoff. Given as a reason is a two-year old on-the-job back injury. Lacroix isn't saying, but those who know say it is politics. ****

Reform

of filing petitions. If a candidate chooses not to run in the primary election, all donations must be returned if possible, and the money which is not returnable must be dispersed within 90 days of the decision not to run to acceptable charities within the district in question.

These three steps would create a complete election cycle in a six month time frame which is certainly ample time for the public to gain the proper knowledge about the candidates and most important—the elected officials would have more time to do their job, as opposed to year round campaigning.

In many states a voter may take any ballot the voter wishes in a primary election which means members of one political party may vote in another political party's primary. This crossover voting is obviously unfair and should not be allowed. To correct this:

All voters must, at the time of registering to vote, designate the political party of their choice or register independent, as is done in New York State. A voter could then only vote in the primary election of the group for which the voter registered.

Proper financing of elections is extremely important and therefore all decisions regarding campaign finance must first insure that all the voters are truly represented by the persons that they elect, and second, insure that there is a fair competition for each elected office in question.

Editor's note: Robert Byrne is a self-employed business consultant with offices in Manlius, N.Y., and Gurnee, Ill. Byrne is a long-time participant in Lake County civic and political affairs. He is a past president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce. Before residing in Waukegan, he was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in an upstate New York district.

Dubious purchase

Editor:

I want to thank everyone in the state of Illinois for wanting to buy over 1,000 acres in Antioch Township. You the people, the ones without the tax break, the ones whose benefits have been cut; the same people that will not have any access to this property—it will be your hard earned money that the Illinois Dept. of Conservation is using for this purpose.

Some people will be able to hunt on the property. Hunters, don't get too excited. It's not going to be open to the public, only the landowners that the state is purchasing the property from will be allowed the privilege.

The senior citizens, the poor and the handicapped can wait to get help, because the state has priorities and buying property from a few select cronies.

Where are you Mr. Edgar? and our representatives in the Senate and Congress? Read my lips, there are people out there that need help.

Abusing the curbs

Editor:

As a resident and voter in your congressional district, and again, at my place of business, I have received two copies of your "1992 Citizen Response Survey." As I have noted your past practice to be, this was again sent out at the very end of the time permitted under law for franked mail prior to the election.

Congressman Philip M. Crane surely knows full well how to utilize public funds to get his name before the population. To select the mailing date for a voter survey so close to a contested election smacks of the worst attributes of the "incumbency club" that holds far too much power in our nation's capital. In a year where many people are unemployed or suffer from household budgets strained to the breaking point or beyond, such an expenditure of public funds on your reelection sickens me.

Of all the over-generous privileges given to Congress, the franking privileges of free mail is the most onerous and egregious abuse of our tax dollars. At a time of national financial crisis, Crane, with his long-claimed Republican fiscal conservatism, should lead the fight to rid our nation of the plague of last-minute mailings by incumbents seeking yet another mouthful of swill at the public trough. Rather, he joins the offenders and gleefully wastes our money on nonsensical "opinion polls."

Real leadership seeks to curb abuses. Crane's claimed "leadership" seeks to abuse curbs.

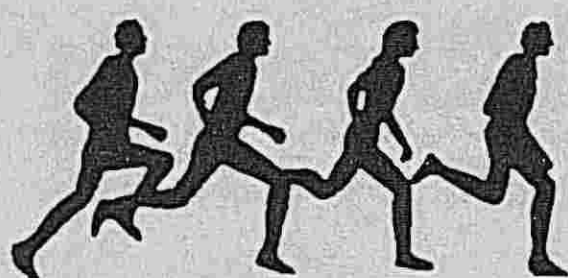

Since you want free publicity, you got it. I hope this helps give the voters a real view of you and what you stand for.

Eating disorders awareness week Feb. 2 to 8

"Don't weigh your self-esteem—it's what's inside that counts!" is the slogan of this year's national Eating Disorders Awareness Week (EDAW), to be observed Feb. 2 through 8. Local activities will be held in more than 40 states to enhance public awareness of eating disorders and to challenge cultural attitudes and values which contribute to them, said Maryann Troiani, Psy.D., an eating disorders treatment specialist at Forest Hospital in DesPlaines and a state representative for EDAW. EDAW activities will focus on the prevention of anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa, compulsive eating and related food problems by emphasizing personal strengths rather than appearance or weight.

This message will be delivered to parental groups, where a nationwide network of presenters plan to discuss how dieting, body-dissatisfaction and the drive for thinness leads to life-threatening disorders.

Since weight preoccupation and obsessive food/body concerns are manifesting in younger and younger children, the EDAW efforts are designed to heighten awareness of the parents of small and unborn children. Talks are planned for PTA meetings, preschool parents, community groups and hospital birthing classes.

Forest Hospital offers specialized inpatient and outpatient therapy for children, adolescents and adults suffering from eating disorders.

"Fearless Friday" will again be a highlight of EDAW. Feb. 7 is the day to consciously refuse to obsess about diets, weight or body size. On this fourth annual "Fearless Friday," everyone is encouraged to be more accepting of themselves and to experience what life is like when their self-esteem is not weighed on a bathroom scale.

EDAW is sponsored by Eating Disorders Awareness and Prevention (EDAP), a national, non-profit organization whose board of dedicated healthcare professionals serves as a resource for a volunteer network of state coordinators.

Step into Crane's parlor and back to a time of Victoriana, of lace and satin and old fashioned portraits.

But step into his portrait studio and discover bold pieces of work from weddings to a baby's first photo all focused on sharp, striking contrasts and memorable expressions.

"We strive to be different from other studios which offer the traditional portrait," said business owner Harold Crane who considers the style of his work as a challenge.

Using methods usually avoided by other studios, Crane presents his clients in the light, setting and with the personal items which best represent their character.

On an entry-way wall, a bride stands confident in a model style setting which highlights the detail of the dress and features of the bride. The lighting used is equal to that of portraits found in bridal magazines making the image so precise and honest a person can see the hair on the bride's arm in the portrait.

"Many studios use a softer look," he said, "but we like the very sharp, contemporary look of this style. No one else

"We try to tell a story of the person by capturing their expression and by working with the items they bring with them."

— Harold Crane

I know of offers this type of setting."

On another wall, a baby's face smiles from a black background drawing the viewer's attention to the expression, not the background. The portrait represents Crane's effort to draw attention to the subject.

"I think I work a little more dramatically with higher contrast," he said.

Crane's Picture Perfect, 309 Old McHenry Road, Long Grove, opened in mid-October after Crane established 20 years of experience in wedding and portrait photography from his home.

"We thought this would be a great place to open a new studio," he said.

With Long Grove as a scenic background, Crane offers unique services for customers such as an old-fashioned portrait package complete with a carriage ride to the historic farm house where the photo is taken and a framed photo.

Crane's also offers two-tone Victorian-style parlor portraits. Customers select from a variety of available costumes to wear for the setting. A half hour later the photo is ready.

"They are rather unique looking and very nice," Crane said.

Couples receiving wedding coverage by Crane will receive their proofs when they return from vacation. Crane develops and processes all his work in studio alleviating mail delay of proofs.

For family portraits, Crane strives to "tell a story" about the subject(s) he is photographing by providing his customers with a cluster of portraits to choose from. Much of his work is displayed in groupings on family walls.

"We do very personal work at settings asking people to bring their personal belongings for the portraits," he said. "We also use different backdrops, lighting and clothing changes."

"We try to tell a story of the person by capturing their expression and by working with the items they bring with them."

Crane has experience working with babies, children, animals of all sizes, families, weddings and more.

A sitting fee is required and customers choose how many portraits they would like to purchase. Crane does not limit or extend customers by offering 'package' deals.

Crane's Picture Perfect is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and by appointment.

Easy organization, planning tips ensure a smooth move

Even under the best circumstances, making a move can be traumatic—whether it's across the street or across the country. A little organization and advance planning are the keys to making the experience less stressful and more efficient. Preparing a checklist in advance will allow you to feel more in control of the process, and will help get everyone involved in the move.

Mike Warren, of Century 21 Michael Warren and Co., Antioch, offers these tips as a "moving out, moving in" checklist:

Moving Out

•Professional movers?—Investigate competitive moving prices. Compare the cost and time commitment of renting a truck for a do-it-yourself move, versus hiring professional movers.

•Confirm moving date and time—Reconfirm the moving date and time with the moving company, or verify the truck rental agreement, several days in advance of the big day.

•Mail change—Send change-of-address cards as soon as possible. Notify the post office, creditors, schools, relatives, employers, friends, doctors and insurers of your new address.

•Records—Forward all school, medical and dental records to the appropriate offices in your new location.

•Box it up—Begin your packing by boxing seldom-used items first. Label boxes by content and the rooms where they should be delivered.

•Fragile—Use extra towels and linens to protect breakables, or a natural filler like plain popcorn. Clearly mark the boxes "fragile" and "this end up."

•Important documents—Separate and secure important documents, keys, jewelry, etc., in a safe location so they won't get lost in the confusion. Don't forget to retrieve items in your safe-deposit box.

•Final inspection—Conduct a thorough inspection of closets, crawl spaces, basements, attics and other out-of-the-way storage spaces. Have another person inspect the house separately.

•Locking up—Remember to turn off all lights, air conditioning and heat, and lock all windows and doors before you leave. Check to see that the oven and all burners are off.

Moving In

•Cleaning—Do a thorough cleaning prior to moving in, including carpeting. It's easier to clean an empty house than a full one.

•Utilities—Locate, check and label all fuses, circuit breakers, water/gas and electrical valves. Read utility meters and test smoke detectors.

•Furniture placement—Determine in advance where you want to place the heavy pieces of furniture. The movers are better equipped to maneuver heavy items.

•Emergency resources—Make a new list of your local fire and police station phone numbers, in addition to doctors, poison control and medical facilities.

First-time buyers buoy weak market

First-time buyers in 1991 accounted for the highest percentage of U.S. home sales in almost a decade, providing a needed boost to a weak housing market, according to the nation's largest title insurance organization.

Chicago Title and Trust Company's (CT&T) 16th annual home buyers survey, entitled "Who's Buying Houses in America," revealed that first-time buyers bought 45.1 percent of the 4.3 million housing units sold in 1991, up from only 41.9 percent last year, and the highest percentage since 1976, when the figure was at 44.8 percent. The 4.3 million housing units sold in 1991 compares with 4.5 million units sold last year.

In Chicago, 45.6 percent of homes were purchased by first-time buyers, up from 38.1 percent last year and only 34.4 percent in 1989. The average price of their new home was $118,400 only 3 percent above last year's average price of $115,000, but 16.7 percent below the national average of $142,100 for first-time buyers.

"Normally the fixed-rate mortgage interest rate decline from 10 to 8.5 percent during 1991 would be a powerful stimulus to the housing market," said John Pfister, CT&T vice president and market research director, "but a large number of potential repeat buyers—perhaps feeling vulnerable or more at risk on the job—elected to ride out the recession on the sidelines." This left the market to first-time buyers, as well as buyers at the most affluent end of the spectrum, according to Pfister. He noted that nationally 54.7 percent of repeat home buyers had family income in excess of $61,000.

Pfister pointed out that, in addition to lower interest rates, the nationwide aggressiveness of first-time buyers was fueled by two-income families, who made up 87.8 percent of the first-time buyer population, versus 83.9 percent last year. In Chicago, two-income families were 72.4 percent of the first-time buyer market, down from 75 percent last year.

Nationally in 1991 the median price of a home rose just 2.4 percent from $131,200 to $134,300. That compares to the median home price in Chicago of $139,200. Nationwide, the average home price rose 6.9 percent from $160,500 to $171,600, while average home prices in Chicago rose 7.3 percent to $152,100 from $141,700 in 1990.

Home buyers in Chicago go fared worse than their counterparts in Cleveland, Detroit and Minneapolis on home prices. The average price of a home in those areas was $98,200, $109,100 and $110,300 respectively.

According to Pfister, U.S. home buyers in 1991 generally got more house for the money than their counterparts the previous year. Despite the 6.9 percent average home price increase nationally, the average monthly mortgage payment for home buyers was up just 1.5 percent over last year to $1,144, as the cost of borrowing declined about 15 percent during the year. The average monthly mortgage payment for homes purchased in Chicago in 1991 was $1,029—the highest monthly payment of any of the midwest markets studied.

Meanwhile, the average monthly mortgage payment as a percent of family income was up only fractionally, to 34 percent from 33.8 percent last year. Pfister notes the news was even better when looking just at first-time home buyers, who are actually using less of their total income for mortgage payments—35.7 percent versus 36.1 percent a year ago.

"With mortgage rates trending lower, the percentage of buyers nationwide opting for fixed-rate mortgage loans rose to 75.9 percent of all buyers in 1991 from 72.6 percent the previous year," noted Pfister.

The Chicago Title and Trust Family of Title Insurers is the nation's largest, with annual revenues in excess of $1 billion and more than 5,000 locations. The family includes Ticor Title Insurance Companies, Chicago Title Insurance Company and Security Union Title Insurance Company. Together these companies provide title insurance and related services throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands and Canada.

Business Briefs

Domino's Pizza opens new store

Antioch — Domino's Pizza is bringing its 30-minute free delivery service to the Antioch area with a new store at 428 Lake St. in the Lake St. Plaza.

Owners Dave and Patti Brooke said they are eager to provide residents with the product and service guarantees offered by more than 5,000 Domino's Pizza stores worldwide.

Domino's Pizza in Antioch is celebrating with a Grand Opening on Jan. 25. From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., a slice of pizza and a Coke will cost 30 cents. Prizes, including free pizza for one year, will be given away.

"We believe product and service are very important," said Dave Brooke. "We will deliver hot, delicious pizza to our customers within 30 minutes. If we're late, we take $3 off the price of the order at the customer's door."

Bradshaw and Range to be honored

Waukegan — The professional corporation of Bradshaw and Range will be recognized by the Lake County Business Forum with a Minority Business Achievement Award on Wednesday, Jan. 22.

This funeral and burial business was established in 1928 and has facilities in both Waukegan and Zion. It periodically conducts seminars on estate planning, wills and other related topics. The business is an active participant in many community and professional organizations including: The Illinois and National Funeral Directors Assn., Waukegan/Lake County and Zion Chambers of Commerce and the Lake County Urban League.

The Lake County Business Forum was created in 1987 to build stronger ties and business advocacy with minority businesses. The recognition awards are to demonstrate the capabilities of minority businesses to perform in a manner which displays dependability, competitive pricing, and quality goods and services.

Just get up there and sing

"Sing. Sing a song. —Hey, how ya doing out there?— Sing out loud. Sing out strong.—So, where you folks from?"

Whoa, Don't worry that it's not good enough for anyone else to hear. Just sing, yes, sing that little soooooong.—The Carpenters. Thank you."

by DOUG DUSIK

Lake County's newest — and some say biggest — storm to hit the bars is Karaoke (karow-key). Yes, anyone can be a lounge singer now, thanks to Japanese technology.

And, apparently, lots of people are willing to do it.

"It's the best thing that's on the market, without a doubt," says Eddie Bauer, owner of Bauer's and Barney's on the Bay in Antioch.

On Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights, when Karaoke is featured at Bauer's, "We pack the place," he says. "There's no way we could pack them in if we didn't have this."

What fuels this phenomenon? What inspires people of all ages to get up in front of strangers and croon a moldy oldy that most of us would rather forget if they didn't keep popping up on the speakers in supermarkets.

"Deep down in our hearts we all want to be performers," says Sandy Sun, owner of Meadows 21 in Libertyville.

Meadows 21 began offering Karaoke in August, and ever since, the bar packs in the crowd every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday when the sing-a-long machine is fired up.

"We've got the right speakers, the best CD's and the best emcee, who is me," says Ludwig, Meadows 21's announcer, singer and disc jockey.

While the crowd began piling in for Karaoke on this particular Friday night long before the 9 p.m. show began, Ludwig handed out song lists and collected song requests.

A potential singer needs to write down their name, the title of the song they wish to sing and — very important here — the song number.

Meadows 21 offers more than 600 songs to choose from, from rock to country to modern pop to big band to show tunes.

Each song, listed in alphabetical order, gives that number, the title, the artist and the first line. This is to help you recognize a favorite song (Georgy Girl, The Seekers, "Hey there Georgy Girl ...") in case you don't recognize it by the title (Born to Be Wild, Steppenwolf, "Get your motor runnin' ...") or think twice about pursuing it (La Bamba, Ritchie Valens, "Par bailar la bamba ...").

"Elvis is still one of the most popular," Ludwig says.

At 9 p.m., Ludwig welcomes the crowd and with his thick German accent, begins the show off right with — what else? — "New York, New York": "Shtah shpreadin' da news ..."

The crowd goes wild and sings along. The words are offered on video screens throughout the bar in a bouncing-ball fashion with the music. The videos also offer a visual image complimentary to the song.

Only the music and background vocals are supplied by the Karaoke machine. The singer on stage is responsible for the lead.

After Ludwig, up comes a Meadows 21 bartender to do his Bob Dylan impression. Then the real fun starts. Perfect strangers come up to shine or flop.

The good ones get applause. The bad ones make you want to look for a gong, ala Chuck Barris' old Gong Show. But the audience is patient and sometimes a bad singer can use humor to save face.

Sometimes not. Ludwig controls volume and microphone reverb.

"If they're good I make them sound excellent. If they're bad I make them sound good," he says. "But if they're obnoxious, I make them sound lousy. Then they get booted off the stage and never come back."

He didn't need to do much with the tipsy woman who sang "The Rose" by Bette Midler in a nasal, off-key style. Nor did he need much enhancement for a Meadows 21 waitress who could belt out country & western like she was born on the range.

Most singers are average, however. And they have a blast.

"We love music," says Mike Greco, who just came off the stage after a duet with his wife.

'It's something that all ages can handle. If it wasn't for Karaoke, you couldn't get up there and sing at most places unless you were really good.'

—Eddie Bauer

Bauer's and Barney's on the Bay

"Let's do it again," says Marlene Greco.

Meadows 21 offers a weekly contest and monthly finals. On Feb. 5, 21 people will compete for a grand prize of a cruise to the Caribbean.

"You don't have to be a star," says Ludwig. "All you have to do is know a little bit about the song."

"It's something that all ages can handle," Bauer says of the 80- to 21-year-olds who sing at his bar. "If it wasn't for Karaoke, you couldn't get up there and sing at most places unless you were really good."

Bauer says Karaoke has been around 10 to 15 years, but its new to Chicagoland. It's entertaining to watch. It's fun to participate in. And it's a good bar activity, he says.

"What's really nice about it is that it gets everyone involved," Bauer says. "When they're drinking, it burns up some of the alcohol."

Karaoke offerings

Bauer's and Barney's on the Bay in Antioch and Meadows 21 in Libertyville hold Karaoke nights on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. O'Train's in Wauconda offers it on Friday nights. T.J. Garrigan's in Gurnee has Karaoke on Wednesday and Fridays.

Blues to warm up winter at the Mills

When you wanna get down to some live blues where do you go? To the shopping mall, where else...

Strange, but true. Gurnee Mills is changing the face of the American shopping mall with its weekly entertainment at the Show Court.

The Winter Blues Fest will run this weekend at the Mills starting on Friday with The Fabulous Fish Heads from 6 to 8 p.m. On Saturday comedians from Zanies will perform from 1 to 1:45 p.m. The Zanies lineup includes Ed Fiala and Ron Robertson with emcee Sally Edwards.

Kevheads can meet the man himself, WLUP's Kevin Matthews from 4 to 6 p.m., Saturday. Buzz Kilman's All Bubba Blues band takes the stage at 6 p.m.

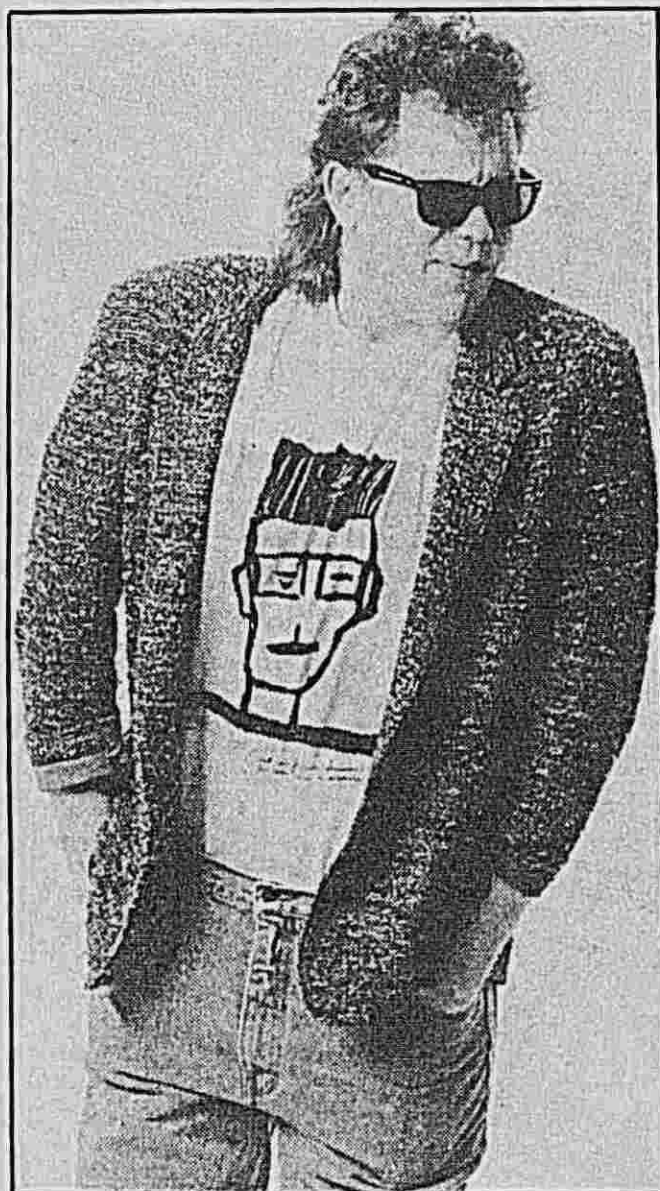

Mills' merchants will join in the spirit by decorating their windows in blue. And don't miss the raffle for a Boze stereo system. The winner will be announced at 6 p.m., Saturday.

Your Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You heat up the day and the night as the week begins though by midweek, you need (you must have) precious R & R or else. You do manage to get some work done. The bad news or maybe the good news is you're up to no good AGAIN by the weekend. Have you considered taking an early vacation?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your creativity oozes from every pore this week, though you must look at a domestic issue as the week begins. For some unknown reason, we find you working hard, yes, very hard toward the weekend. Over the weekend, let a loved one take you away to the Casbah.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You definitely have your priorities in line this week. And you are one of the few signs that seems to be grounded. Check out a long-term investment though you may need to mull it over. Laughter surrounds you later in the week. Count on a long and glorious weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You may feel like the switchboard of life this week, since everybody needs to talk to you, get your advice, needs a phone number, etc. You short circuit later in the week. This is a time to make your needs top priority. You recuperate over the weekend to finish the weekend with a wallop!

LEO (July 23-August 22) You are the 'personality kid' as the week begins (you are generally anyhow) — however you need to take a look at the boring side of life midweek. You perk up again by the weekend and fizz (just like champagne) into the weekend. You don't have to go far to find the action. It's all around you.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) You start the week on a down cycle but not for long. You become a veritable force to deal with by midweek. What's this? Your wish is another's command. Make the most of it; it's short lived. Before splashing into the weekend, check out finances. You may decide to play it low keyed.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Don't stand on ceremony as the week begins. However, step back and take another look. Some soul searching (as well as imagining how it feels to be another) takes you a long way. Toward the weekend, you beam into the social scene. Wherever you go, there's special magic, all weekend long.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Make the most of a boss' focus on you. You could be nervous — or make the most of it. You have reason to celebrate midweek, and you'll do so until the weekend when reality hits. Seems as if you need to get a lot done and rather quickly at that.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Your creativity is high (and practicality low) as the week begins. You can't get a grasp on what's going on until someone tells you point blank. Focus on work till the weekend when you find you're ready to socialize. Such highs and lows!!

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) You are ready, willing and able as the week begins. Let another know where you're coming from. You're off on adventures through to the weekend when you must (alas) be responsible. Your more convivial side comes out. How you enjoy the lighter side of life, Capricorn.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Let another take the lead this week. (This is only temporary, since the sun is in your birth sign right now.) If you play follow the leader just right, by midweek you enjoy a real treat. Accept a more than appealing adventure (invitation) as the week ends. HAPPY BIRTHDAY, AQUARIUS.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You may be a little out of sorts this week. Plug into work and you even out. Let another seek you out midweek. Take their hand when they offer to take you down a new path. You close the week happy as a clam after you receive the rewards of a special partnership. Hmmm, not bad.

Hawaii's Historic Coco Palms Resort

by JIM WARREN
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

I don't usually devote an entire column to just one resort, but I'm going to make an exception for the Coco Palms.

Not only does it have a history dating from ancient Hawaiian royalty, but it was the setting for several prominent movies of the 40's, 50's and 60's as well as a very famous TV series. It's also on my favorite island of the Hawaiian Chain, the Island of Kauai.

The 45 acres upon which the Coco Palms is located was once owned by the Queen of Kauai. The resort's beautiful lagoons were used to fatten turtles and mullet for her table.

You might recognize the bridge that crosses the lagoon. It was from here that Mr. Roark welcomed guests to Fantasy Island.

Mitzi washed a man right out of her hair right on these grounds, as the movie South Pacific was filmed at this resort. A little farther up the coast is the secluded "Nurses Beach" also used as a set for that film. Ask a local (or me) for detailed directions.

You real Elvis fans may already know that Blue Hawaii was filmed at the Coco Palms. Elvis loved Hawaii and this resort. He stayed here many times after completing that movie. Ask to see the cottage he would call home during his many visits to Hawaii.

Want to go one better than spending your honeymoon at this dream resort? Why not get married here in a chapel built for Rita Hayworth! Your travel agent can arrange the whole thing complete with minister.

As I said, the Coco Palms resort is on the island of Kauai, the most western of the Hawaiian chain. Flying into Kauai, you will land at the Lihue Airport. From there take Highway 50 North about 10 miles. The Coco Palms will be on your left at Highway 580. Regardless of where you stay in Hawaii, a visit to the Coco Palms is a must.

Wheel World

'Beauty' good, not great

Critics have been hailing Disney Studios' newest release "Beauty and the Beast" as "another Disney classic," lumping it in with the venerable "Snow White," "Cinderella" and "Song of the South," etc. Not!!!

Of course everything the Disney experts do is pleasing and enjoyable. Disney is to the cartoon-world what Coca Cola will always be to the soft drink guzzlers and Hershey is to chocolate devotees. This is the category "Beauty" falls into, "pleasing."

But classic, on the same level as some of Walt's best, it isn't.

We enjoyed the film. It was fast moving, always a plus. We recommend it for the younger crowd and also for adults that are into cartoons and have an appreciation of the artistic value of this caliber of cartooning.

It took us a while to figure out why it was just good and not great, as we were led to expect.

We finally narrowed it down to two things. Disney classics always had a sound track equal to some of the best Broadway musicals, with several pop hits emerging from each one and lovable, memorable characters.

Remember "Snow White's" "Whistle While You Work," and "Someday My Prince Will Come."

In "Beauty," the music is a lovely background, the title song is above average, but not Hit Parade material, and the rest of the individual numbers, are negligible.

Although Disney's experts did their best to make a candlestick, a teapot, a tea cup, a clock and a dancing wardrobe loveable in "Beauty", somehow they just don't compare with seven huggable dwarfs, Jiminy, a wooden puppet whose nose grows longer when he lies, etc., although "Chip" the tea cup comes close.

Angela Lansbury's voice-over for the teapot is done with her usual finesse.

Although the surprisingly resonant voice of Robbie Benson as the Beast is good vocal casting, the drawing of the Beast just didn't do it in our book.

"Beauty and the Beast"

And for a studio that gave Snow White, Cinderella and Sleeping Beauty and ethereal loveliness, the lady whose name is Beauty is just another pretty cartoon.

Despite all these objections, the kids will love it unless they have been completely brainwashed by today's action flicks. (I couldn't get my 10-year-old grandson into the theater to see it.)

And don't forget Disney movies are one of the last bastions of good family entertainment and that deserves all the encouragement it can get.

We give it a 3.75 out of five stars, worth seeing.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Creative, challenging fitness for kids

Tired of the kids bouncing off the walls in the house? Wishing spring would come so that you could let the kids run off some of their energy in the park? You don't have to wait.

The Discovery Zone, the latest in children's fitness centers and whole-family entertainment, features play and creative fitness equipment designed to challenge children to have fun while they are developing their bodies.

There are two zones of brightly covered blue, red, yellow and green padded playground adventures which seem to beckon children to them. Each specially designed zone is composed of brightly colored ball baths (there are more than 60,000 in all, human "gerbil tunnels, swinging bridges, spider walks, spiral slides, vinyl mountains, moonwalks, water beds and even a challenging obstacle course. The mini zone is for children up to 40 inches tall and the other for children 40 inches and taller. The equipment is designed to appeal to children from infancy to 12 years of age. "It's designed for the kids to have fun while accomplishing their fitness goals," said Vernon Hills franchise owner Albert J. Till. "It's a place where parents can take their children to spend quality playtime together. The equipment is designed to handle adults as well as children so moms and dads can get right in there with the kids and play."

Admission to the zone is $4.95 per child for up to two hours of play. Non-walking infants and parents are free. While in the zone, children are supervised by from three to seven staff members at all times depending on the number of people in the zone. No more than 150 children are allowed in the zone at one time. Parents can watch children play through large, clear panels or walk into the zones with the children. A television is provided with an open view of the zones so parents with unchangeable 'couch potatoes' habits can watch while keeping an eye on the kids.

The Discovery Zone is located in Vernon Hills at Hawthorn Fashion Square on Milwaukee Ave., next to Kohl's Department Store. The facility is open Sundays 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Monday, noon to 9 p.m.; Tuesday through Thursday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Second City continues to poke fun of everything—everyone

Critic's Choice

"Economy of Errors," Second City's latest satirical romp, is presented with gusto normally reserved for a new enterprise. Yet the current enthusiastic revue is its 75th and marks the 32nd anniversary for this Chicago institution of comedy.

It's a goldmine laden with familiar treasures. The well-honed cast pokes fun—sometimes a gentle ribbing but mostly a swipe at the jugular—at politicians, the homeless, environmentalists, aphrodisiacs and AIDS. Vice President Dan Quayle and William Kennedy Smith get their share of the verbal bashing. In fact, very few targets are left unscathed.

John Rubano has the right degree of causticity as tour guide through "Bush Gardens," featuring the Hall of Ethics and a pitched battle between the Deficit and Trickle Down the Clown.

In the zany "La Famiglia Pucci" sketch (complete with operatic highlights), an Italian family breaks tradition to welcome a newcomer to their circle not only by drinking coffee in a little-used parlor but also by sitting on sofas separated from their plastic covers for the first time—all to disastrous consequences.

"The Band" involves audience participation; it's a how-to lesson on presenting a concert without any instruments.

Rubano, joined by six

Second City veterans (Ron West, Jill Talley, Tom O'Malley, Michael McCarthy, Fran Adams and Steven Carell), have a knack for making improvisation look easy. It's one of the company's trademarks, and the cast does it well.

Director Sheldon Patinkin manages to make the most of his cast's vocal talents as well. Gary Baugh did a nice job adding a touch of color to the normally all-black stage.

But even without this embellishment, "Economy of Errors" is on flashy production. Ticket information is available at (312)337-3992.

Barat offers distinctive educational curriculum

The spirit and traditions of the Sacred Heart are alive and well at Barat College, a four-year coeducational liberal arts college located in Lake Forest. With a current enrollment of more than 700 students, Barat integrates its curriculum with the distinctive educational philosophy of its founders, the Society of the Sacred Heart. Students, faculty, administration, alumni and members of the independent Board of Trustees represent a wide range of religious, socio-economic, and ethnic backgrounds.

The College began as an academy for young women in Chicago in 1858. The school moved to Lake Forest in 1904, and was chartered as a four-year college in 1918 by the State of Illinois. In the early 1970s, Barat became a leader in the college adult re-entry movement, and in 1982 it became coeducational.

In July 1988, Dr. Lucy S. Morros was selected to head the college, and the following year she was formally installed as Barat's fifth president. A respected teacher, administrator and author, President Morros has brought strength and enthusiasm to her position and direction of the college.

Through the years, Barat has offered a curriculum which integrates liberal and professional education as a foundation for personal and career fulfillment. This education calls forth and is enlivened by a sense of social awareness and responsibility.

Above all, the abiding hallmark of the Barat tradition is particular concern for the education of each student as a unique intellectual and moral person of transcendent worth, who is also a constituent part of the college, of the nation, and of the world.

Young children learn naturally

The early childhood years have been called "the magic years." Children are curious and full of questions. They learn many new words and gain skills rapidly. Children invent their own explanations for things they don't understand and see lots of things that adults miss.

Children in all parts of the world spend hours playing and pretending. Play is the way children learn. They experience their world directly, try on new roles, learn to solve problems with others, observe carefully, see cause and effect, and find patterns and relationships.

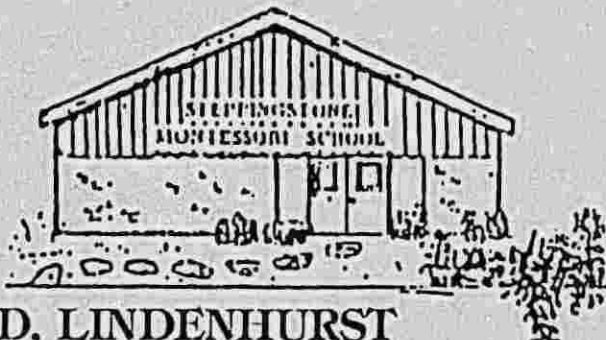

The early years are critical learning years. Children at this age need to interact with their environment, to see how things work and to make things happen. Young children are developing the most fundamental skill of all. They are learning to learn.

"I Love You in the Sky, Butterfly" is a program that builds on the ways that young children naturally learn. This is an exciting early learning computer program for children between the ages of three and seven. The program is designed to meet the needs of young children—not to make young children learn in ways that are inappropriate and foreign to them. The Early Learning Program not only reflects a whole language approach, it reflects a whole child approach.

Appropriate programs offer wonder-filled worlds of children to explore, play with, learn from and share with others. Children can discover and use their own abilities. As children enjoy wonderful poems, stories and activities, they will gain skills in many areas. For more information call (708) 432-3067

Montessori schools offer unique teaching method

For most parents a visit to a Montessori pre-school is an eye-opening experience. They see children ages three through six all busily engaged in a wide range of individual and small group activities. The teacher, called a director, is present working with individual children, observing the class, or giving a presentation to a small group of children. The children's focus however is not primarily on the director but on their chosen work.

The children choose their work from any of the interest areas set up throughout the classroom. Two of these areas are Practical Life and Sensorial.

The Practical Life area is perhaps the most noteworthy. Here, the children work with real, child-sized materials, to carry out a myriad of everyday activities. An observer to a Montessori class might see children scrubbing tables, polishing brass, cutting carrots, pouring water, folding, watering plants, hammering nails, or ironing. All of the activities have been chosen by the director to aid the children's growth and development in concentration, fine and gross motor skills, and independence.

The Sensorial area of the classroom contains a set of specific materials which help the child to begin to sort sensory input into logical mental constructs. All the materials here isolate particular sensory input. There are materials dealing with sight, hearing, smell, taste, and touch. Most of the materials involve gradation.

Other areas in the Montessori classroom are art, language, math, science and nature, and geography and culture. Each area has a distinct set of materials. The materials in all the areas serve the needs of children from the age of three through the kindergarten year.

Montessori preschools are based on the principles of Dr. Maria Montessori. Through her observations of children, Dr.

Montessori discovered that children pass through a series of sensitive periods from birth through age six.

Sensitive periods allow the child to focus on specific environmental stimuli and achieve tasks which lead to his development as a child and ultimately as an adult human being. A good example is the sensitive period for language.

Parents in Lake County, considering preschool for their child can call a number of local Montessori Schools to arrange to visit and observe classes. They will find a non-pressured and rich learning environment with a distinct flavor from school to school. Montessori schools are child-centered and foster love of learning, concentration and independence.

No time for reading? Try taping

Reading to your children is one of the best things you can do. It's quality time spent together, and it teaches children about the world.

Sometimes when you have work from the office or homework to do, you just don't have time to sit down and read with your children. Why not read books aloud on tapes? This way your children can listen to your familiar voice any time they want to hear a story.

Taping books is excellent for new readers. They can follow along in the book while you read. They can learn to associate words with the spellings by following along in the book or they can practice reading aloud with the tape.

While you have time, record some books now so you'll have them when you can't sit down and read with your children.

Services for mayor, water director Neal

Former Libertyville Mayor Paul Neal, 63, was to be buried this weekend. He died Jan. 22, just three days before he was to receive the coveted Heart Award from the Libertyville-Mundelein-Vernon Hills Chamber of Commerce.

Neal was diagnosed last year as having an inoperable brain tumor. He died at home following a year of being in and out of the hospital. He worked almost every day or was available by telephone.

Funeral services are scheduled for Neal from the Kristan Funeral Home, 219 W. Maple Ave., Mundelein. A wake for him will be Friday, Jan. 24, from noon to 9 p.m. Funeral services will be held Saturday, Jan. 25, at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Libertyville. Interment will be in Ascension Cemetery.

Services are the same day as the Chamber of Commerce banquet where Neal was to be honored for his leadership in bringing Lake Michigan water to central Lake County. He will receive the award posthumously. It is bestowed periodically upon individuals who excel in community service.

Neal, who served as mayor of Libertyville from 1981 until 1989, continually championed the need to bring Lake Michigan water to central Lake County.

When he was defeated for re-election by JoAnn Eckmann, Neal became the first executive director of the Central Lake County Joint Action Water Agency. It undertook the largest public works project in recent Lake County history—a $100-million construction of facilities and 32-miles of pipeline that will carry water to 125,000 people in 13 communities. The first water will begin flowing in May. The system's main water treatment center in Lake Bluff is named for Neal.

Neal served as Libertyville trustee for two terms prior to being elected mayor. Active in politics and office, he is past president and the current executive director of the Lake County Municipal League.

He is co-founder of the Libertyville Civic Center Foundation, which stages the annual Libertyville Days. Proceeds go toward a civic center for the community.

Treasurer of that organization today is a son, Martin, who runs Pine Tree Pet Supply of Libertyville. This business was founded by Neal 47 years ago in 1945.

Neal is survived by his wife of 44 years, Mary (nee Lawrence), three sons, Lawrence (Dawn) of Lake Forest, Sgt. Patrick (Yvonne) of North Carolina and Martin of Libertyville; six daughters, Carol (Philip) Whiting of Libertyville, Paula Neal of Libertyville, Joan Wells of Libertyville, Katherine (Roger) Anderson of Lake Villa, Mary Ann (Robert) Key of Libertyville and Linda (Craig) Martens of Wildwood; six sisters and 13 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by two brothers, John and Leo.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Lake Forest Hospital Hospice or the Neuro-Oncology Fund at Evanston Hospital.

Watershed law passed; swales next on agenda

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

Intended to establish minimum countywide standards for new development, the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission has approved a watershed development ordinance that makes homebuilders happy and environmentalists nervous.

The ordinance will be forwarded to the County Board for approval before it is put into effect.

"No one got everything they wanted, but that is normally the case when you are trying to strike an appropriate balance," said Ward Miller, SMC executive director.

"The ordinance closes an important loophole in the Army Corp of Engineers federal wetland program that allows people to drain wetlands without a federal permit being required," said Karen Kabbes, SMC chief engineer. If approved by the county board, permits will be required in Lake County.

The law also requires identifying "very small drainage areas" overlooked by state and federal regulations. Extending further beyond those regulations, it strictly defines flood plains.

"The state and federal cutoff for determining a flood plain is usually a stream draining more than one square mile of area or 640 acres. We are looking to define and regulate flood plains on streams that drain as little as 100 acres of land," Kabbes said.

The law also exceeds state and federal regulations by requiring developers to provide, as a safety factor, more storage for water. Any flood plain development must also occur a foot higher than established requirements.

Environmentalists argue that no development should occur in the flood plan. However Ginny Nelson-Wulf of the organization Reduction/Recycling Education and Action for County Health (REACH) said the SMC is a victim of the county board.

"Lake County took away their funding for research and development. The idea for stormwater management is a good one, but their maximum potential won't be reached until they can do the data collecting," she said.

Nelson-Wulf said the idea of an ordinance is good, but without the data it cannot determine the most effective ways of preventing flooding. "Without the funding, we won't get the data. The ordinance is watered down and isn't nearly what it should be. There shouldn't be any building in the flood plan. The idea of compensatory storage is a developer's tool and doesn't work. The magnitude of our floods proves that," she said.

Having completed the ordinance to their satisfaction, the commission will move on to investigating the use of grass swales as opposed to storm sewers in an effort to alleviate downstream flooding, Kabbes said.

Easing Your Tax Burden

Easing tax burden to get a jump on taxes

by DICK WINTRODE

There are a number of things you can do today, while there is still plenty of time, that will make filing 1991 tax returns smoother. Following are a few of the little things that can make taxes less taxing:

- If claiming dependents over one year of age, enter their social security number (SSN) on your tax return. If a social security number for your child has not yet been applied for, do it today. If you're expecting, it is a good idea to apply as soon as the baby is born. Most Illinois hospitals can help with this.

- For those who were married during 1991, your records with the Social Security Administration will need to be corrected. This will prevent a mismatch of name and social security number when filing your return and thus will avoid a possible delay of your refund.

- For those working parents who have a child in day care or have baby sitting expenses, the provider's name, address, and social security number or employer identification number will need to be included on your return in order to claim the Child Care Credit for 1991.

By now each person should have received their 1991 federal tax forms. For those who have not, forms and instruction booklets can be picked up at any of the IRS offices, and at many banks, post offices and libraries.

If that is not convenient, forms and publications can be mailed directly to you within 10 days by calling the distribution center direct number at 1-800-829-3676. Do not wait until the last minute. For those who are not sure what forms they will need, it is suggested that you take a minute and review your last year's tax return. If your situation hasn't changed too much, you can probably use the same 1040 ES for payment of estimated taxes; Form W-4 for changing the number of exemptions claimed at work; Form W-10 for child care provider's tax information for claiming child care credit; Form SS-5 for obtaining a social security number or for making a name change; and Form 4868 for filing an extension of your tax return. It is important to remember that this is only an extension of time to file, not to pay. Any taxes due must be paid with Form 4868.

For those who have recently moved, or are planning a move in the near future, be sure to file a change of address card with the post office. Also, don't forget to notify former employers or payers of interest, dividends and miscellaneous income that you have moved so that W-2's and 1099's will be received in time to file early. In addition, change of address notification will make the IRS's job easier in the event that they need to contact you for any reason. This can be done by filling out Form 8822, change of address, and mailing it to the IRS.

An important tip to remember concerning the use of the IRS's toll-free phone number is that you will usually get through faster when you call on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. The IRS lines are busiest early in the week.

The following IRS numbers are also available for those who need help with their returns. For tax information in area codes 312 and 708, call (312)435-1040. For forms and publication, call 1-800-829-3676, from anywhere in Illinois, forms again this year.

While ordering forms, it is suggested that a few other forms and publications that may also prove useful also be ordered. These include: Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax;" Publication 553, "Highlights of 1991 Tax Changes," Form

Libertyville woman charged in sale of imitations

by ELLEN RUTLIN
Lakeland Newspapers

A 45-year-old business woman was arrested for selling merchandise which resembled expensive trademark items.

A search of Marsha E. Wilks residence at 1012 Michaels Lane resulted in the charge of unlawful use of a trademark after items such as look-alike Polo shirts, Gucci handbags and Rolex watches were found.

"She sold from her home and went around to craft fairs and boutiques to sell her merchandise," said Investigator Dave Poulton. "She would also put on house parties — like you would with Tupperware."

Wilks, who had been in business six years under the name M&M Imports, worked for an airline. She reportedly would travel to Hawaii with an empty suitcase and return with a load of the imitation merchandise manufactured in China, the Philippines or Taiwan.

Though Wilks and her business partner who was not arrested, told customers the merchandise was not authentic, they still made several thousands of dollars.

"She never tried to pass it off as the real thing," Poulton said. "She always told customers it was a look-alike."

Investigators hired by some of the trademark companies purchased the items from Wilks and conducted "extensive investigations" before bringing the case to Libertyville police for the arrest, Poulton said.

Hundreds of Rolex watches, handbags, jewelry items and clothing were taken into evidence by police.

"I saw many shirts that had the manufacturers emblem on the front and Fruit of the Loom labels inside," Poulton said. "If it is a registered trademark, the trademark will also appear on the inside of the clothing. Otherwise it will have a stamp authorizing reproduction."

Poulton speculated the merchandise taken into evidence would be destroyed or turned over to the trademark companies.

Wilks was released on a $5,000 recognition bond for the misdemeanor charge.

A Riverwoods stewardess was also arrested recently on similar charges, but according to Poulton the cases were not related.

Holdup suspects face $1 million bond each

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Gurnee Police Dept. officials are praising the cooperative nature of various law enforcement branches — from the village, to the Sheriff's Dept. to the FBI in capturing two men and an accomplice who allegedly robbed a Burger King Jan. 19.

"It was a total team effort," Gurnee Police Chief John Ward said.

Bond was set at $1 million each for Troy Jackson and Stanley Belton, both of Waukegan. A bond hearing was expected Tuesday for a third suspect, Jerry More, also of Waukegan.

Ward said two of the suspects entered the Burger King displaying a chrome and black weapon, a .38 automatic. A shot was fired at the incident, which took place at 6:20 p.m. There were no injuries involved with six employees and a handful of customers present.

Between $17 and $2,000 was initially stolen, but all the money was recovered.

"It is the policy of Burger King to hand over the money in the event of a hold-up. We have insurance. Life is more important than money," the Burger King manager, who preferred not to be named, said. "They all took it real well."

The fast-food restaurant, located adjacent to Pembroke Corners, was closed for the night after the incident.

One of the suspects was caught following a one-mile foot-chase behind the restaurant in the Boulders subdivision which featured using a canine unit of the Lake County Sheriff's Dept.

Two residents of the Centennial Apts. were taken hostage for a brief time but were released unharmed.

Jackson was arrested in Waukegan.

Where To Worship

Libertyville

The first part of the four-part series on Jesus as the bridge between Christians and Muslims entitled: "Jesus in the New Testament and Quran," to be held at St. Lawrence Episcopal Church, 125 W. Church St. in Libertyville, will be given by Rev. Dr. Stephen Infantino at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 25. Part one will focus on the background of the Quran and the New Testament with regard to times, places, and circumstances of origins. Rev. Dr. Infantino is a Professor of Philosophy at the College of Lake County and a priest of the Episcopal Church who has also studied the Quran. He has dialogued with Muslims and has been invited by various Muslim groups to speak on Islam.

Part two of this series: "Jesus in the New Testament" will be held at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 8; Part Three: "Jesus in the Quran," will be held at 7 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 22; and Part Four: "Pictures of Jesus in the Quran and New Testament Compared," will be presented at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 7. For additional information on this series, call St. Lawrence Episcopal Church at (708)362-2110.

Wildwood

The Wildwood Presbyterian Church, 33428 N. Sears Blvd. in Wildwood, will honor its Clerk of Session, Florence Knight, during its 10 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Jan. 26 and at a luncheon following the service. Mrs. Knight has been Clerk of Session for 37 years since the church was founded in 1954. A variety of presentations will highlight the history of the church and Mrs. Knight's leadership. Visitors are welcome to attend both the service and the luncheon. For further information call the church office at (708)223-0073.

Round Lake Beach

The Rock, located at 913 W. Rollins Rd., Round Lake Beach, invites the public to attend an all-day housewarming/dedication service that will feature a variety of speakers, and other activities as well as a luncheon buffet on Sunday, Feb. 2. Morning prayer begins at 9 a.m.; Sunday service at 10 a.m. Call (708)740-7011 for more information.

If you would like to advertise your next Church activity here, please call (708) 223-8161

Warren, Patriots prepare for round one showdown

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The Stevenson High School boys basketball team was getting ready to depart from Prairie View for a North Suburban Conference clash with Lake Forest.

"We found out at 4:30 p.m., Friday, that we lost Chris for two to three weeks if the healing is normal," Stevenson Coach Ken Johnson said.

Chris Coleman, Stevenson's standout, injured a hand going for a rebound in practice. He practiced Tuesday and Thursday, but the Stevenson training staff gave the Pats the bad news before the Lake Forest game. Coleman had suffered a hair-line fracture in a hand. "It is in a soft cast," Johnson said.

The Pats did not miss a beat, gearing up for the Jan. 24 home clash with fellow league-leader Warren with an 85-55 win over Lake Forest and an 88-70 win over Fenton. The wins improved Stevenson to 14-1 overall, 7-0 in league play.

"The kids came out and played with a lot of heart and character two days in a row," Johnson said.

Game time for the Pats-Blue Devils clash is 7:30 p.m. Fans may be wise to arrive before the sophomore game, as fans were turned away last year. Stevenson won the NSC title in an overtime game.

Eric Roth took over where Coleman left off. He scored 37 points combined. All five starters were in double figures against Fenton. Chris Piggott had 17 and Kenyon Catchings had 14, Jonas Jocson had 12 points and Jason Justus had 11. Catchings had 14 against Lake Forest.

"He played great ball both nights. He really got down to business. I'm really proud of him," Johnson said of Roth.

Warren won twice, pulling away in the second half in a 63-50 win over Libertyville and a 58-41 win over Lake Forest for a 13-2 overall mark.

Coach Darrel Bader is not necessarily counting on Coleman not playing. "We will believe it when we see him in street-clothes when they throw up the first ball. He is a great player but they have other fine players," Bader said.

Warren's Mark Genevese hit two three-pointers with the game tied at 30-30. That sent the Blue Devils on a tear which saw the visitors build a 10-point lead. Genevese was a starter when the season started, but injured a knee.

"I sat the whole first half knowing I would get in the second half," Genevese said. Working with Warren trainer Mark Pos, the guard recovered after having "something the size of a quarter in his knee," Bader said.

"I was able to comeback a week early," Genevese said. Genevese did not mind watching the other players play his role. "A lot of players played my position, but I was happy for them."

Warren was paced by 20 points by Craig Shelton. Ben Bongratz led the inside attack with 18 points.

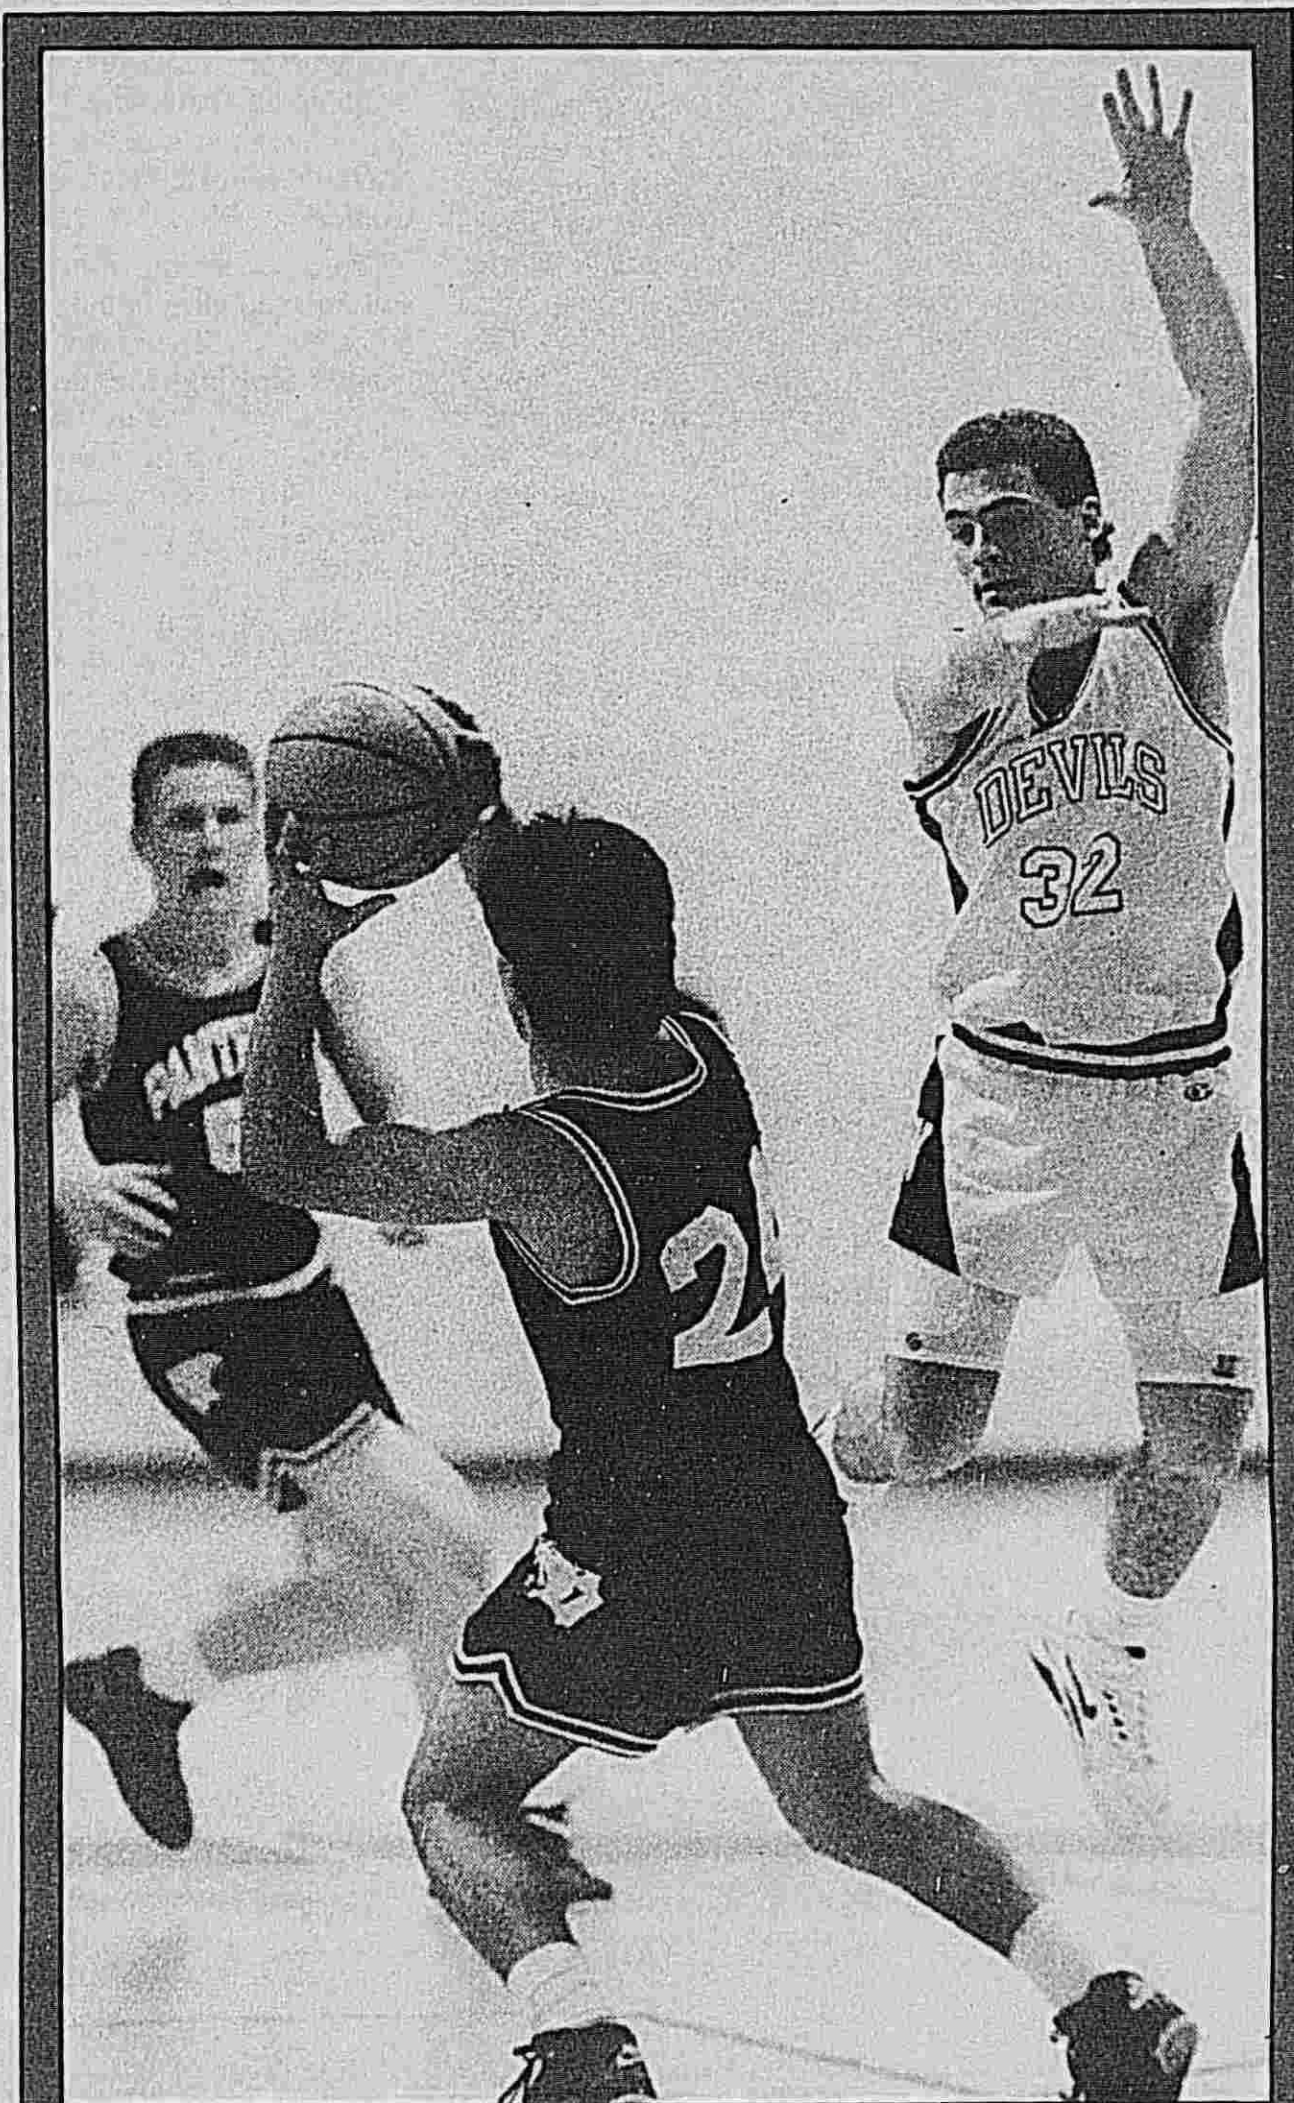

"They have the kids who can shoot the threes. Our strategy was that they would not beat us inside," Libertyville Coach Max Sanders said.

Libertyville (7-9, 3-4) was led by Tom

Simon's 21 points. Sophomore guard Matt Heldman added 10 as did Gregg Wheeler. Libertyville hosts North Chicago

Jan. 24.

But most eyes will be focused squarely on Prairie View.

Lancer women take top ranking in area defenses

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Imagine a 14-1 basketball team getting better.

College of Lake County's women's basketball team falls into that category of late, as the Lancers are making it even tougher on opposing offenses and things are getting smoother during practices.

CLC's win No. 14 was another easy one, a 71-28 thrashing of Oakton. With the win, the Lancers become the top-ranked team in the region on defense, surrendering a meager 48.7 points a game. That tops Kankakee (the only team to beat CLC), who is at 49.6 points a game.

"We really have made it a point to emphasize defense all year. The ranking should give us incentive to work even harder. We've been able to do a little more as far as full-court press," CLC Coach Don Zeman said.

The Lancers have added another weapon, Grayslake grad Emily Woemmel. Woemmel joined the Lancers at semester break.

"She gives us another big player inside to challenge Caryn (Alexander) during practices. We now have 10 girls at practice go five-on-five," Zeman said.

CLC's defense was at its usual stifling best against Oakton, allowing the Raiders just 11 field goals.

Alexander paced the Lancers with 20 points against Oakton. Carmel grad Stephanie Seier had 14.

CLC faces non-conference U-W Waukesha at home Jan. 28 before hosting Morton Jan. 30. The Lancers started it all with a season-opening win over Waukesha.

Panthers' balance paying dividends in rise to top

A new leader in the Northwest Suburban Conference is emerging while the long-standing team-to-be knocked off will once again have that honor this year.

Round Lake, thanks to some help from an improving Grant team, is now the top banana in the Northwest Suburban Conference girls basketball race. The Panthers gained that status with a 62-44 rout of Grayslake while Grant shocked Marian Central 43-40.

The Rams, who rebounded to beat a Heather Ford-less Wauconda team by 31 points, stayed competitive with the visitors until a 15-4 run by Round Lake in the third quarter.

"We got the ball inside more and we were more aggressive on defense. We did not allow them any second shots," Round Lake Coach Gary Edge said.

Amy Drinan led the winners with six baskets for 14 points, Christy Zink had 13 and Joy King 11.

"She has been averaging 10 points a game. She needs to work hard defensively; then her points will come," Edge said.

King and Drinan share the duties of bringing the ball upcourt. "King and Drinan are interchangeable on offense," he said.

The Panthers (13-5, 9-1 in the NWSC) feature a varied attack. The balance has led Grayslake Coach Brad Larson to peg Round Lake, not previous leader Marian Central, as the favorite down the stretch.

"We have had all of our starters lead us in scoring at one time or another," Edge said.

Although the Panthers are second only to area-ranked Warren in number of wins, Edge hopes his team has not peaked too early. "We play them one game at a time and you have to be ready to play well at all times because of the balance of teams this year," Edge said.

Round Lake is at Wauconda Jan. 30.

The Bulldogs are trying to cope without star Heather Ford. Ford reinjured her knee before a win over Johnsburg. Although no surgery will be necessary, Ford will be lost for the year.

Warren keeps rolling along. The Blue Devils improved to 15-2 overall, 8-1 in the North Suburban with an easy 61-41 win over North Chicago. Warren, a Sweet Sixteen team the last two years, is the top seed in the Round Lake sectional complex. First-round games will be played Feb. 17 and Feb. 18. Regional finals at the remaining top four sites will be Feb. 20. Sectional semifinals at Round Lake will be Feb. 25 with the final Feb. 27.

Feb. 17 games: TBA at No. 1 Warren, TBA at No. 8 Grant; TBA at No. 4 Round Lake and TBA at No. 6 Zion-Benton. Games Feb. 18: TBA at No. 2 Waukegan; TBA at No. 7 Stevenson; TBA at No. 3 Libertyville; TBA at No. 6 Grayslake.

Carmel (6-11) fell in a double-overtime thriller in conference play to Resurrection, 53-49.

Michelle Karrigan had 13 points for the Corsairs, including one basket which highlighted a comeback. Natalie Gambit had 18 points, including a shot to tie the game in the waning seconds of regulation.

Stevenson won two games, downing Antioch and North Chicago. Sophomore Danielle Mall had 13 points in the 45-35 win over Antioch. Antioch tied to rally, but its effort came up short. Mall and Heather Wooten teamed up to pace the winners against North Chicago with 12 points. The wins improved Stevenson to 11-6 overall, 5-4 in the NSC.

Corsairs close to perfect

Carmel is close to completing its second straight undefeated regular season after taking the talent-rich, 11-team Lake County Championships at Barrington last Saturday.

Other top performers in the county meet included all-arounders Jennifer Torres of Barrington (9.1), Carmel's Jaime Wegener (8.77), Stevenson's Elana Patt (8.56), Jenny Witt of Lake Forest (8.55), Libertyville's Taryn Mantucca (8.53), Deefield's Angie Rabl (8.5) and Libertyville's Sara Schieffer (8.4).

Carmel did it without the services of standouts

Sarah Mikrut (elbow injury) and Amie Zanek (knee injury).

"Sarah looks promising for the regional," Bendixen said. "Amie looks less promising — I don't know if she'll be back yet."

Bea Selz took the all-around to help Carmel top Maria and Regina Monday. The Corsairs have just one obstacle in their way to a perfect regular season: the Girls Catholic Athletic Conference Meet Feb. 1.

In other action, Stevenson finished third in the six-team Mt. Prospect Invitational. Rolling Meadows won the meet, which was a combined varsity-junior varsity affair. Stevenson's Patt was fifth in the all-around.

Lake Zurich fell to Crystal Lake Central and Elgin Larkin in a three-way meet. Lake Zurich freshman Lindy Chisamore recorded her best-ever all-around score (30.40).

Junior Eme Cole claimed the bars (9.3), the beam (9.5) and the all-around (a 9.31 average) as the Corsairs (107.95) outdistanced second-place Barrington (105.15).

Cole was second in floor exercise, while teammate Tanya Holik tied with Barrington's Beth Dreher for the vaulting title (9.4).

"The girls did a real exceptional job," Carmel coach Norbert Bendixen said. "Everybody in the meet performed well at what they did."

Lancers seek to make waves in Skyway league contests

Waubonsee and Oakton have established themselves as the front-runners in the Skyway Conference men's basketball race.

But that does not mean the College of Lake County cannot still make some noise in the league.

"Waubonsee and Oakton are the top two teams in the league, but we would like to show we're the third-best team," CLC Coach Bruce Smith said.

CLC (5-11 overall, 2-2 in the Skyway) have a chance to do just that when they host Harper Jan. 30. The 7 p.m. game follows a Jan, 28 non-conference tilt at Harper.

The Lancers found out why Oakton is one of the top dogs in the league when CLC fell 94-81 at home. The Lancers found themselves trailing by 23 points at halftime, but played better in the second half.

"The last 12 minutes of the first half, we played poorly. Nothing could be worse," Smith said.

Jeff Becker, an Antioch High grad, led the way with 20 points on six three-pointers. "He is supposed to be our three-point shooter,"

Kessel reaches milestone, MHS looks to challenge

When it comes to milestones, silence can often be the best policy.

No-hitters are not discussed on the bench in baseball. And Mundelein boys basketball Coach Dennis Kessel tried to keep going for win No. 300 on the "q-t" as much as possible. "I was aware of it because I started the year with 291 career wins. It was something I had a desire to do but was never brought up or discussed. I thought we played real well Saturday," Mundelein Coach Kessel said.

The Mustangs earned No. 300 for Coach Kessel with a 59-51 win over Antioch. The Mustangs had downed North Chicago 73-65 for win No. 299. Kessel had a successful coaching career at Oregon before coming to Mundelein.

The Sequoits, who downed Fenton 63-46 the night before, had a tall order for the Mundelein defense - six-foot-eight Chris Malec. Malec was held to seven points.

"Cory (Kirking) did a good job on him. Cory also had 10 rebounds Friday and eight Saturday," Coach Kessel said.

Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser preferred to think it was Malec's foul problems which caused the low-production.

Mundelein (9-6, 4-3) led by one at halftime but increased it to 12 in the second half. Kyle Kessel and Matt Bra, had 16 points each against Antioch (7-8, 4-2). Thad Miller led the way with 16 points against the Warhawks. Brua had 12.

Mundelein has a chance to make it a three-team race in the NSC, if they can knock Grisamore, with 16 each in the win over Woodstock.

Ludwig Hoelt scored 13 in the second half against Woodstock, 11 against Crystal Lake Central.

Look whose joining the leaders: that is Johnsbury. The Runnin' Hawks flew past Wauconda in a 75-50 win for an 11-5 overall record. Johnsbury is 6-2 in

by Steve Peterson

off Fenton and Libertyville at home Jan. 24 and 25.

Dresser praised the play of guard Jeff Woods in the 17-point win over Fenton. Woods scored 13 points. Malec led the way with 18.

"In the second half, we executed what we wanted to do," Dresser said of the Fenton game. Antioch blew open the contest with a 21-10 third quarter.

Two games in one weekend did not bother Lake Zurich one bit. The Bears picked up two Fox Valley Conference wins, 51-46 over Woodstock and 61-54 over Crystal Lake Central. The wins put LZ over the .500 mark at 9-7, 4-3 in league play.

Kevin Caceres scored 26 to lead the way against CLC, and shared scoring honors with Rob the Northwest Suburban and in a clash with Round Lake for second. The two teams meet Jan. 28 for the right to chase Marian Central.

Jon Mulnar led the Skyhawks with 16 points as Johnsbury took control with a 17-6 run over Wauconda in the second quarter.

"We're getting close. We were able to convert turnovers into layups and our height advantage helped," Johnsbury Coach Jeff Lewiston said.

Wauconda challenged Johnsbury to overtime the first round before losing by two. "We talked about what it means to come out and play hard," Lewiston said.

With the 11 wins, the Skyhawks are on a pace to equal last year's 15 victories.

Wrestling

"We lost it in the lower weights," Mundelein Coach Dennis Szymkowiak said. "Antioch is just solid from 103 and up. There is not a weak spot in the lineup."

Eric Browne at 119 and Earl Corl at 140 did pick up wins for MHS. Corl improved to 15-6 overall.

Stevenson, which is at Warren Jan. 24, lost 39-28 to Palatine and 46-10 to Deerfield. Lake Forest tipped the Pats 35-29.

Cybul tells Dist. 24 of computer lab need

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Millburn Dist. 24 officials are looking towards the possibility of purchasing a computer lab.

The board heard a report from Principal Gary Cybul on how such a $40,000 to $50,000 lab would be funded.

Cybul said he has received commitments from the school's Parent-Teachers Organization for one-year revenue from the Market Day program, the band boosters and will be asking the student council. Cybul also plans on asking private industry for commitments.

The 15-20 computers would cost $2,000 each.

"It does affect every student," Supt. James Blockinger said. "Here is something that could affect every student positively."

The school presently has computers, but not in a centralized lab. Blockinger said it is important for the eighth-graders to have computer skills when they enter Warren Twp. and Antioch high schools.

Cybul asked for one half-time staffer for the lab. While agreeing to the concept of the lab, there were no commitments made to a staff member. This will be worked out during upcoming budget time.

In other business, the board:

•Expressed concern to Special Education Dist. of Lake County Supt. John Anderson regarding the payment schedule.

"There is no incentive to pay the bills on time," board member Gary Gracy said.

Anderson said SEDOL receives revenue from three major sources: tuition, which has changed from average to program basis; operations assessment and a housing formula and case-study evaluations and contractual services.

Millburn presently leases two classrooms to SEDOL. All member districts lease space to SEDOL, which provides revenues to the district, and SEDOL is paid a certain amount per child. SEDOL acts as a "flow-through agency" between those of the 37 member districts which have space and those which have students.

"We can't give it until we get it. Until all district members who owe funds, on contractual services versus districts who receive money. First bills go out in September. Once I have all money in January or February, then I can distribute them. For us to up-front the money would be very difficult, because there is nothing to upfront," Alice Stone, business manager for SEDOL, said.

Anderson said it has been the philosophy of SEDOL to have its students "educated as close to home as possible."

Five or six districts are taking back programs each year. This is the time of year when districts must decide, as the deadline is Feb. 1.

Anderson said if Millburn were to withdraw its two classrooms, it would have a negative impact.

Plans for a new SEDOL headquarters may be placed on hold. SEDOL had looked at land outside its Laremont facility in Gages Lake. "Because of the budgetary times, it will be the recommendation of the building committee of the superintendents not to recommend a facility plan," Anderson said.

SEDOL headquarters is in Gurnee adjacent to Viking Park. SEDOL staff has outgrown the building, leading to 30 working out of their homes.

•Cybul told the board of a new program to reward positive behavior of students "outside of the ordinary".

•Blockinger told the board the Lake County Tax Appeals Board ruled in favor of Temple Farms in a tax assessment case. Millburn stands to lose $600,000 in revenue if the lower assessment stands. Blockinger said the district will send a letter to the state board of appeals saying it cannot afford to lose such revenue.

•The school's DARE - Drug Abuse Resistance Education program for fifth graders held its graduation Jan. 22. DARE is a 17-week drug awareness, self-esteem course. Lindenhurst Police Dept. conducts the course at Millburn.

CES offers embryology workshop

What is more fascinating than to see a fully developed baby chick emerge from an egg? The University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service (CES) 4-H Program will sponsor a workshop for teachers interested in teaching embryology to youth. The session will be conducted on Wednesday, Feb. 26, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., at the Lake County Extension Service office located at 100 S.

U.S. Hwy. 45, Grayslake.

A teaching packet, student materials and fertile eggs will be provided at a cost of $10 per classroom to workshop participants and/or teachers interested in enrolling their students in the 4-H embryology project. 4-H will also provide exhibit opportunities and ribbons for all youths participating in this project.

To register for this workshop or for further information about the 4-H embryology project, call the Lake County 4-H office at (708)223-8629 by Feb. 14, the enrollment deadline.

Arrives for duty

Army Sgt. Mark S. Arnold, son of Donald F. and Bernice J. Arnold of Lindenhurst and a 1985 graduate of Mundelein High School, arrived for duty in Big Rapids, Mich. He is a recruiter/retention noncommissioned officer.

State issues county a 1.0 equalization factor

Lake County has been issued a tentative property assessment equalization factor of 1.0000, according to Douglas L. Whitley, Director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The property assessment equalization factor, often called the "multiplier" is the method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties as required by law. This equalization is particularly important because some of the state's 6,600 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties (e.g. school districts, junior college districts, fire protection districts). If there was no equalization among counties, substantial inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result.

State law requires property in Illinois to be assessed at one-third (1/3) of its market value. Farm property is assessed differently, with farm homesites and swellings subject to regular assessing and equalization procedures, but with farmland and farm buildings assessed according to standards based on productivity.

The equalization factor is determined annually for each county by comparing the sales price of individual properties sold over the past three years to the assessed value placed on those properties by the county supervisor of assessments/county assessor.

If this three-year average level of assessment is one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be one. If the average level of assessment is greater than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be less than one. And if the average level of assessment is less than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be greater than one.

Assessments in Lake County are at 33.55 percent of market value, based on sales of properties in 1988, 1989, and 1990.

The equalization factor currently being assigned is for 1991 taxes, payable in 1992.

Last year's equalization factor for the county was 1.0000.

The tentative factor is subject to change (1) if the County Board of Review takes actions which significantly affect the county assessments or (2) if local officials or others can present data showing that the Department of Revenue's estimates of the average level of assessments in the county should be adjusted. A public hearing on the tentative multiplier will be held between 20 and 30 days after the tentative factor is published in a newspaper of general circulation within the county.

A change in the equalization factor does not mean total property tax bills will increase or decrease. Tax bills are determined by local taxing bodies when they request money each year to provide services to local citizens. If the amount requested by local taxing districts is no greater than the amount received in the previous year, then total property taxes will not increase even if assessments may have increased.

The assessed value of an individual property determines what portion of the tax burden a specific taxpayer will assume. That individual's portion of tax responsibility is not changed by the multiplier.

Brunch will fete 2 Sterns, Hub, Mary

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers
Two Lake County Democratic leaders will be honored at a February brunch.

They are state Rep. Grace Mary Stern (D-Highland Park) and her husband, Herbert "Hub" Stern, county Democratic Party chairman for 10 years until 1977.

Two years ago the party honored another leading Lake County Democrat—state Rep. John Matijevich (D-North Chicago) for his 22 years in the General Assembly.

The Sterns will be honored at a brunch on Sunday, Feb. 16, at the Mundelein Holiday Inn, Rtes. 45-83, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"The Stern name is synonymous with integrity, hard work and public service," said Betty-Ann Moore, the current party chairman. "This is a festive tribute to their years of service to Lake County."

Grace Mary Stern served as Lake County Clerk for 12 years prior to her election as a state representative in 1984.

When Stern ran for clerk her slogan was: "She's not one of the boys." Helping identify her at the time was a lively news column, "With a Stern Eye." In 1970 she was elected by less than a one percent margin. She ran for re-election in 1974 and in 1978 she was the highest vote-getter of either party.

In 1982 Stern was tabbed by Adlai Stevenson of Galena to be his running mate in that year's gubernatorial election. Feisty and outspoken, Stern almost sparked the team to near victory. Their loss was by one-fourteenth of one percent. She believes to this day that if a recount had been allowed, Stevenson would have been governor and she would have eventually succeeded him in that office.

In 1984 Stern ran for state representative in the 58th Dist. and won a narrow victory. Her re-elections in 1986, 1988 and 1990 were by wide margins.

Now, in 1992, in the face of partisan redistricting, Stern has announced she will run for the state senate in the new 29th Dist. Again this year she must persuade a largely Republican constituency she is a Democrat for whom voters should cross over.

Her husband "Hub's" service to the party began as a candidate for Congress in the 12th Dist. in 1966. He ran against incumbent Robert McClory. Stern lost. The following year he became party chairman.

"Hub was always available to candidates or committeemen by phone, in person or at the party headquarters in Waukegan," said Moore, today's party chairman. "He gave unstintingly of himself, his time and his treasury. The upshot was that, for the first time, Lake County Democrats began to hold countywide offices."

As chairman he helped the party put up candidates for many offices that had gone unchallenged in the past; county clerk, sheriff, state's attorney, state senator and circuit judge. Many of those races were the first time Democrats ran for the office. "Those were the years the Democrats became a force to be reckoned with in Lake County," Moore said.

Since his retirement from the party leadership in 1977 Stern has served as a councilman in Highland Park as a member and chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals in that city. He is also involved with such charitable organizations as the Foundation for Hearing and Speech Rehabilitation.

Tickets for the brunch are $25 per person. They are available by calling Robert Furtkamp at (708) 816-8303. Reservation deadline is Thursday, Feb. 13.

Winter Car Care

Cooling system service keeps car safe, dependable in winter

Would you risk a $1,500 repair bill to save $25 on car service? That's the gamble you take if you've failed to have seasonal cooling system service done on your car. One out of five cars and light trucks inspected in National Car Care Month vehicle checklanes was found to have standard cooling system antifreeze protection.

The number of under-protected vehicles increased significantly after the price of anti-freeze increased several years ago, according to Car Care Council, who advise against the practice of false economy when it comes to vehicle maintenance.

A vehicle takes an abnormal amount of punishment in severe winter weather. The most noticeable cold weather symptom is slow starting, usually a result of the drastic decrease in a battery's cranking power.

The engine is harder to turn over for another reason: the oil is thicker. Everything, in fact, acts stiff: the heater fan, the shock absorbers and springs, the steering, the transmission, even the brakes.

So just because you have the engine warmed up, don't assume your car is rarin' to go. Drive it easy for a few miles in cold weather.

Other cold weather tips from the Council:

- Add a little extra anti-freeze solution to your windshield washer reservoir, not the type you use in the engine, but a concentrate available at most auto supply stores. In extreme cold, a pint of rubbing alcohol added to the windshield washer solvent will help prevent freezing.

- Do not use pure anti-freeze. The normal mixture is half water and half ethylene glycol.

- Use extreme caution when spraying starting fluid. A backfire through the carburetor or any spark can cause fire or explosion. If your must use starting fluid, be sure to have a good fire extinguisher nearby.

- Remember the correct way to hook up jumper cables: red clamps on positive (hot) terminals, then one black clamp on the negative (ground) terminal of the good battery with the final connection to the engine or frame of the disabled vehicle. This prevents a spark from occurring near a battery, which emits explosive hydrogen gas.

Winter driving means think safety

When it comes to cold weather, most people have the wrong idea of what the family car needs. Drivers worry too much about cold starts, not enough about safety and the car's longevity.

With today's cars, as long as the engine is tuned up and the battery good, cold starts are not the problem.

Think safety instead. Safety is a matter of common sense. Drivers will be using headlights a lot more, so make sure they are aimed properly.

Visibility is a prime concern in the winter. Check that all lights function so your car is visible to others. And buy fresh replacements for the windshield wipers. The last thing you want is to peer through a streaked windshield.

Keep tires inflated to recommended pressures, this improves handling on wet roads.

Winter is rough on the car's paint, not only because of road salt, but because there is more precipitation. Road oils washed up from the pavement end up on your car. The spray from trucks on a wet road is a mixture of oil, dirt and salt that does no good.

Wax gives the best protection, but apply with care. Avoid polishes or cleaner waxes, which contain abrasives. They clean old finish by removing the outer layer of paint. Never use these products on a new car. Synthetic enamel paints must age five or six months before they are completely hardened. Instead, use a pure wax.

Extreme cold does strange things to the car's vital fluids. There's a big difference in automatic transmission fluid levels between hot and cold temperatures. The notches in the dipstick give hot and cold readings, but if the temperature is below zero, you might get no reading at all. Drive a few miles to warm up the transmission.

Few northern drivers think about the air conditioner in January, but it's a good practice to turn it on once in a while if the temperature climbs above 38 degrees. This lubricates the seals and helps prevent freon leaks.
